AS LONG HOLIDAY BEGINS

Lawmen Utilize All Manpower In Accident Fight

By SARAH LITTLE
Staff Writer

State and city police are concentrating all efforts toward keeping down traffic fatalities in the Twin Cities area during the long Independence Day weekend using all possible manpower and two traffic control planes to patrol the highways.

State Police Capt. M. E. Kidd said last night that traffic has already become "congested" on the highways, and that state police will be especially watching for drunk drivers, reckless drivers and speeders.

Kidd said that all leaves had been canceled for state troopers, and that every man would be working through Tuesday.

Monroe and West Monroe city police also urge motorists to drive carefully and say they will be working around the clock to keep traffic fatalities such as the one that claimed two lives and injured seven in LaSalle Parish Thursday at a minimum.

PATROL RIVERS

Law officials asked persons to be extra careful in swimming and boating, and Deputy Sheriff Frank Kirby, said that parish police will be patrolling the rivers over the holiday weekend.

Kirby said that they will be doing their "best" to keep down fatalities on the river and lakes.

Youngsters and adults both are urged to be careful while swimming, to avoid drowning tragedies.

Twin City residents are looking forward to the extended Independence Day weekend, and many public offices will be closed through Tuesday. All public offices will be closed Monday, including the offices of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury and the parish health unit.

In addition, Monroe banks and the post office will be closed Monday. The post office will keep regular Saturday hours, operating until noon today. Only special delivery mail will be delivered Monday.

Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry announced that operations of some Monroe city buses will be curtailed on the Fourth.

Some buses that have been running on 20 - minute schedules will be shifted to 40-minute intervals, while Loop Road and College buses will observe a shorter day. Some buses will continue their regular schedules.

Senate Votes To Limit Ike's Import Power

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee, disregarding protests of House leaders, voted Friday to give President Eisenhower authority to curtail sugar imports from Cuba for only six months.

The committee pigeonholed a House - passed bill which would have given Eisenhower the authority for 18 months and extended the government sugar control program for one year beyond its scheduled expiration next Dec. 31.

The committee decided to put off consideration of the House bill until after Congress returns from the political conventions in August to wind up its legislative business.

ACTION

The committee announced its action shortly after House leaders—departing from normal protocol — publicly warned senators against tampering with the sugar bill which passed the House Thursday night by a roll call vote of 394-0.

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) told the House that if Congress has to deal with sugar legislation again after the conventions it will be impossible for the lawmakers to

Gremillion Tells View On Courts

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion said the courts could be compared with baseball umpires — "How fair can a ball game be if the umpire is prejudiced?"

He spoke Thursday night to Junior American Legion coaches here.

The state official said he has been appalled "By some of the decisions of our courts."

The U. S. Supreme Court recently overturned a three-man federal court ruling involving vote registrars, Gremillion said.

The ruling in effect was that although a registrar could be accused in secret, Gremillion said, he could be forced to testify against himself without knowing the nature of the charges.

A justice who dissented, he added, held "We must not take away the rights of one person to give them to another."

Rocket Fails Soon After Launching

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 72-foot-tall Scout rocket veered off its path high above the Atlantic coast Friday night, two minutes after launching, and was destroyed.

The Scout rocket attained an altitude of 860 miles and landed in the Atlantic 1,500 miles off the Virginia coast.

Earlier Friday at Cape Canaveral, Fla., the first operational prototype of the intercontinental-range Titan missile veered sharply out of control and had to be destroyed about 300 feet above its launching pad.

POSSIBILITY

Had it worked perfectly, the four-stage Scout rocket, largest ever launched from Wallops Island, Va., would have sent its instrumented nose package to an altitude of 2,300 miles and hurled it on a 54-minute flight 4,700 miles across the Atlantic to the vicinity of Ascension Island.

This was the first test launch of the completely assembled four-stage Scout rocket.

It also was to have been a preview of the missions that the versatile, relatively low-cost rocket will be called upon to perform.

The rocket was launched successfully at 7:04 p.m.

Watchers in Washington, 125 miles to the northwest of Wallops Island, were able to detect the separation of the first and second stages.

MAY TAP OUACHITA

Study Monroe Water Revamp

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Monroe residents may be drinking Ouachita River water within four years, if a far-seeing Utilities Commission program being designed to modernize and improve the entire water works system is approved.

French Smith, Commission general manager, said Friday that the program takes into consideration the water needs of the city through 1970.

Engineers S. E. Huey and H. E. Dickard have been authorized by the Commission to work out the plans. Huey expects the report will be ready in late July.

TREATMENT

"Changes are scheduled in the water treatment plant, the distribution system and storage — in other words, the entire water works system," said Huey.

The changes can be put through within the next 12 to 18 months, according to Smith.

Officials revealed that from time to time, Ouachita River water has been pumped into the water works.

Salt brine pollution from Arkansas oil wells is being eliminated from the River, under a plan that will see the salt completely out within three years.

"We'll probably start using the River water in 1963 or 1964. The city will continue to use water both from Bayou DeSiard (present source) and the River," Huey pointed out.

"The city hasn't been in danger of running out of water — we're just trying to keep from getting in that position," he added.

Thursday, another ray of hope was sighted in the water picuture .. additional water for the city from Bayou DeSiard, once the Hog Bayou dam is raised.

Rep. Lawrence Gibbs announced he will present a proposal to the Ouachita Parish Police Jury for approval. The proposal, endorsed by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, will provide for a $30,000 project to raise the level of Hog Bayou Dam.

The project planned by the state Department of Public Works will prevent water from being lost by overflowing into Hog Bayou from Bayou DeSiard.

Huey and Dickard were authorized to make a study to find out what deficiencies the present

Justice Hails Change In La. Court System

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Chief Justice John B. Fournet Friday hailed a sweeping change in the state's appellate court system — the first since Louisiana was admitted to the Union in 1812 — and termed the courts "our only protection against usurpation of power."

The state Supreme Court Chief Justice spoke at special ceremonies that included the swearing in of 10 new appeals court judges and dedication of a $300,000 annex to the Calcasieu courthouse.

All justices of the Supreme Court and all appellate judges except three were present for the impressive and historic chance in the state judicial system.

MODERN

Fournet said the new appellate courts now give Louisiana "the most modern judicial system in the nation. Louisiana will be fastest in litigation, and the costs of appealing cases will be materially reduced."

But Fournet warned that the state's judiciary must not "stand still" and cited revisions needed below the appellate division.

The ceremonies were unique in two ways:

A new circuit was created and opened in Lake Charles, and cases formerly appealed to the state Supreme Court now will go to the appeals court with the Supreme Court exercising case selection and supervisory jurisdiction. The new system is expected to clear the court dockets and speed litigation.

The new judges sworn in were:

First Circuit, Robert D. Jones of Bogalusa, Paul B. Landry Jr., of Port Allen and G. Caldwell Herget of Baton Rouge.

Second Circuit, James E. Bolin of Minden.

Was It Herman That She Found?

"I think that alligator you had a picture of this morning was Herman," 12-year-old Ken Holt excitedly told a reporter Friday. Ken called after seeing a picture of a 10-inch baby alligator found on DeSiard Street by Dolores Meredith Thursday.

Ken said Herman, his pet alligator, escaped and can't be found. "If that's Herman, tell that girl she better watch out, 'cause he bites," Ken warned. Ken said if it's Herman he didn't know how he managed to cross the river from his home in West Monroe to Monroe.

Crops Needing Rain, But No Relief Seen

By FRANK NOONAN
Farm Editor

Recent rains around the area have given many crops a temporary lease on life, but in most cases failed to provide sufficient tonic to rally pasture and hay crops.

This is the general picture formed in a spot check of five district parishes yesterday.

And a five - day forecast for the eastern section of Louisiana issued yesterday by the U. S. Weather Bureau in Shreveport, failed to brighten the outlook.

Northeast district parishes, however, are considered as faring better than those in southern Louisiana, which Gov. Jimmie Davis has asked President Eisenhower to declare as a drouth disaster area, because of thousands of acres of scorched pastures.

Basil Doles, Richland Parish County Agent, said, "Pasture and hay crops are real short, and we're in serious trouble on these."

He struck a brighter note on some other crops:

"The rain we got last week was ideal for cotton, and we need that much more again this week. If we don't get rain again in a week, soybeans and corn will be suffering again."

Continuing, he said:

"It would take a lot of rain to pull the pastures and hay crops out of trouble. When the grass is eaten off, it isn't coming back because there's not enought moisture to grow it."

Dry weather has hit the corn crop hard in Richland.

"The older corn is gone. It's fired bad," said the agent. "Some

Khrushchev Shuns Meet With Ike

But Will Do Business With New President

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Austrian leaders said Friday night Nikita Khrushchev—still rankled over the U2 spy plane incident—told them he will never do any more business with President Eisenhower but would meet a new American president at the summit.

Emphasizing once more the anti-Eisenhower stand he adopted at the Paris summit breakup in mid-May, Khrushchev also said he will keep the Berlin problem on ice until after Eisenhower's successor takes office, the Austrians reported.

But they said the Soviet leader indicated that he expects whoever succeeds President Eisenhower to negotiate a deal with him about the future of Berlin, a Western outpost 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

PLANS

Khrushchev told of his plans, informants said, in private talks with Vice Chancellor Bruno Pittermann and Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky, both members of Austria's Social Democratic party.

Khrushchev earlier got the cheers he was waiting for when he went into Vienna's strongest Communist district for some hand-shaking and backslapping.

Mrs. J. L. Adams Sr. Dies Here; Funeral Today

The Rev. James T. Horton will officiate at the funeral services in the chapel of Mulhearn Funeral Home at 3 p.m. Burial will be in the Riverview Cemetery.

ACTIVE

Mrs. Adams was active in the Eastern Star civic functions until her illness. A native of Marshall, Mo., she had lived in Monroe for the past 52 years.

Survivors include two sons, J. L. Adams, Monroe, and W. M. Adams, Brookhaven, Miss.; one daughter, Mrs. Sara Kelly, Ferriday; two sisters, Mrs. Beatrice King, Grove, Okla., and Mrs. L. D. Shepherd, Clearwater, Fla.; one brother, Don Easley, Grove, Okla.; and a number of grandchildren and one great grandchild.

AMELIA EARHART

Generator Seen As Link To Mystery

NEW YORK (AP) — A generator from a pre-World War II airplane was presented as evidence Friday in the 23-year hunt for Amelia Earhart, aviatrix who disappeared on a Pacific flight.

A Columbia Broadcasting System team and a reporter from the San Mateo, Calif., Times brought the generator back from Saipan and said South Pacific natives recalled seeing her crash off the island in 1937.

Miss Earhart, tousled - haired pioneer woman pilot, disappeared July 2, 1937, while on an around-the-world flight with navigator Frederick J. Noonan.

VANISHED

They vanished between Lae, New Guinea, and Howland Island where the Coast Guard cutter Itasca unsuccessfully tried to talk them to a landing by radio. Men on the cutter did not see the missing plane.

Saipan, almost due north of Howland Island, would have been far off the plane course.

A search involving 3,000 men, 10 ships and 100 American airplanes followed the disappearance of the first woman to fly the Atlantic. Miss Earhart also soloed the Atlantic in 1932 and flew solo from Hawaii to Oakland, Calif., in 1935.

The search lapsed, but in 1944 a Marshall Islands trader said the woman flyer had been captured by the Japanese.

Last May 26, the San Mateo Times, in a copyright story, quoted Josephine Blanco Akiyama as saying she recognized pictures of Miss Earhart as the "American lady pilot" she saw taken into custody on the Japanese fortress island of Saipan in July 1937.

The Times reported Mrs. Akiyama said that two weeks later a member of the Japanese secret police told her the woman had been executed, shot.

After its team returned from Saipan, CBS said divers had found

Man Shoots At Hog But Kils Big Bear

Blackie, a five - year - old bear, stepped between a 30-30 bullet and a wild hog at the wrong moment on the O. N. Reynolds plantation near Columbia, and now Reynolds is wondering what to do with a bearksin.

"It's illegal to kill a bear," pointed out Reynolds last night, while discussing the shooting.

E. C. Cox Sr., who works for Reynolds, was alone, hunting down wild hogs which had been eating up the plantation's corn crop, when the bear was killed.

"He didn't mean to shoot the bear, but in the excitement of the shooting, the animal stepped out into the way of a bullet," Reynolds explained.

"My instructions were 'not to shoot the bear'," he added.

He got in touch with game agent Hugh Roberts of Columbia. Roberts said that under the circumstances of the accident, no charges would be filed.

Blackie left behind his mate and two cubs.

"They're living in the woods near here. We have no intention of harming them," Reynolds stated.

"I don't consider black bears dangerous lots of people do," he added.

One consolation — the wild hogs haven't been back to the farm since Blackie took the fatal step earlier this week.

Senate Acts To Complete Overriding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under last-minute pressure, Congress Friday swept aside President Eisenhower's veto and enacted 746 million dollars a year in pay boosts for 1½ million federal workers.

It was only the second Eisenhower veto out of 169 to be overridden.

Most Republicans sided against the President, who called the bill indefensible and struck hard at what he said were flagrant political pressures for it.

The House, acting first, voted 345-69 to override. Watching from the galleries was a throng of civil service workers and postal employes—including a bank of uniformed mailmen.

CONFIDENT

Then the federal worker spectators trooped over to the Senate where postal union representatives buttonholed senators. The union officials confidently told a reporter "it's all over but the shouting"—and they were right.

After several hours of talk, the Senate completed the overriding action by a 74-24 vote.

In both House and Senate, the margin was comfortably more than the two-thirds majority required to override a veto—eight more in the Senate and 69 more in the House.

The bill gives about one million white collar civil service workers a 7½ per cent salary increase. Half a million postal employes get an average 8.4 per cent boost because of annual stepup provisions.

For individual workers, it means anywhere from $225 to $1,200 a year, depending on present pay scales. The raises take

S'port Youth Hangs Himself, Leaves Letter

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A 16-year-old Fair Park High School student whose family was planning to move to El Paso, Tex., next week hanged himself here Friday "to avoid leaving Shreveport, friends and sweetheart."

Timothy Patrick Higgins, a straight-A student, who would have been a junior in September, was found by his mother. He was hanging by his neck from a rafter in the garage at his home.

MOTHER

His mother, Mrs. Ethel Mae Higgins, said she planned to move the family in about a week to join her husband, who is stationed in the Army at Fort Bliss, near El Paso.

She found the body shortly after returning home from work at 6:30 p.m. She cut down the body with a butcher knife from the kitchen and called an ambulance. Deputy Coroner E. Preston Ferguson said the boy had been dead since about 1:30 p.m.

Police said he had attached a length of electrical wire to an overhead rafter, stood on a chair and jumped off.

Mrs. Higgins told police she had known about his objection to moving away from Shreveport before graduating from Fair Park High, but she did not think he felt strongly enough about it to take his life.

He was a newspaper carrier. His letter, a combination will and suicide note, asked that his possessions be divided among his friends. He requested that $260 he had saved from his paper-route earnings be turned over to his girl friend.

Survivors include a sister, who was away at Girl Scout camp.

The National Safety Council estimated that every one of the 75 million cars in the country will be on the move sometime during the three days. They'll cover more than seven billion miles.

The heavy traffic load, complicated by fagitue and the desire to cover more miles than a wise driver should, moved the council to estimate that 370 persons might be killed on the highways during the weekend.

This would be 60 more than the 310 usually counted on a nonholiday weekend of identical duration in summertime, the council said.

It would be 22 more than the 348 traffic deaths The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, counted over the nonholiday weekend of two weeks ago.

The period covered by the estimate and the nonholiday figures is 78 hours, from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday.

A ruling believed unprecedented was made in Louisiana on the eve of the weekend. Bishop Maurice Schexnayder of Lafayette, who has jurisdiction over 15 parishes, declared Christian burial would be refused to Roman Catholics declared criminally negligent in fatal traffic crashes.

Application of the order would deny to such Catholics the benefit of community prayers and liturgical services for the dead.

"The increasing number of traffic accidents so prevalent in our time should be a constant reminder to all of us of the grave moral responsibilities which rest upon the shoulders of every driver," the bishop declared.

Over the Memorial Day weekend, also a Saturday, Sunday and Monday, there were 367 traffic deaths. The over-all holiday toll for that weekend was 379 including 46 deaths in boating accidents, 77 drownings not involving boats, and 37 deaths in miscellaneous accidents such as plane crashes, farm mishaps and the like.

action Friday for many of them. In the Senate, 19 Republicans joined 55 Democrats in voting to override. Voting to sustain the President were 35 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

Most Republicans defected in the House, too.

A total of 89 Republicans deserted Eisenhower and joined 256 Democrats to furnish 69 votes more than the two-thirds majority needed. Standing by the President were 38 Republicans and 13 Democrats.

Half an hour before the House convened, uniformed mailmen filled an entire section of the spectator galleries. Other sections were taken up with federal workers and postal employes.

In forging the bill, Eisenhower used unusually sharp language to describe what he said was "intensive and unconcealed political pressure exerted flagrantly" on behalf of the pay raise.

The President aimed this strong criticism chiefly at people he said worked for the boost benefiting 350,000 postal workers. The measure also covers about one million employes in the general Civil Service.

Eisenhower condemned the pay raise legislation as "indefensible in any light." However, he said he would be willing to go along with what he called a modest increase.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, took up cudgels for the government workers.

"I deeply regret that the President would see fit to use such strong language in regard to an overdue pay raise for our federal employes who have worked so hard over the years," Johnson said.

"At least one part was positively identified by the (U.S.) Navy as a generator of an American plane of prewar vintage," CBS said, adding: "Paul Mantz, the famed flier who outfitted Miss Earhart's plane says it appears to him to be the special generator he installed.

The generator was shown at a San Francisco news conference and Mantz told newsmen it resembled the one he installed. But he said he would check his work order numbers against those on the recovered generator to make sure.

CBS also reported, "One native said he had been invited to witness the hanging of a white woman. He refused to go."

The broadcasting company added that its team, led by Don Mozely, "found at least a dozen natives who remember seeing the famous aviatrix crash-land in the water in 1937, watched her taken to jail by the Japanese and then disappear."

Well it appears that there will be plenty of picnics, water trips on rivers and nearby lakes, and just a generally good time for all who seek a really long holiday when Saturday, Sunday and Monday are all included in the great July 4 celebration.

The police department urges care along the highways for no one wants to hear of serious accidents when there should be none to hall the pleasure of the day.

It is a great day and all patriotic Americans should break away from their usual tasks and have a day for outings, rest or what may be most needed by those who seek celebrations. That will mean as far as possible lack of use of firearms. Most cities have forbidden the use of such practices and no one wants to endanger lives. It should be a clean cut holiday when no one is hurt or injured in any manner.

The white man, John Selvidge, 21, was arrested in a drug store where a sit-in demonstration was in progress. Police said Selvidge cursed the Negroes.

of the younger corn could be saved if we get rain this week. We have only a few truck gardens, but they're suffering, too."

The Madison Parish county agent's office reported that rain which fell recently had made crops look a lot better.

"Cotton and corn are looking good," a spokesman said, "but pastures have been hit pretty bad. They were the worse hit."

Madison agricultural officials expressed the opinion that most crops could get by for several days more without rain, "but we really need another rain to get out of the drouth good."

Recent rains touched most areas of Madison Parish, but a few were missed.

The moisture pattern is spotted in West Carroll Parish, where the county agent's office reported that rain fell last Friday and Saturday.

A spokesman there said, "We talked to a man at Epps who said he thought the grass was too far gone to help."

The Epps and Darnell areas need more rain for all typs of crops. In the Oak Grove area cotton, corn and truck corps were reported as doing well, but pastures still are short on grass and hay crops.

Farmers in the area fed out most of their hay last winter, so supplies are short.

Where ample rain fell last week in West Carroll, crops probably can get by all right for another week, the agent's office said.

Woodrow Downs, Union Parish county agent at Farmerville reported most crops doing well following recent rains, but said there will be need for more moisture within the next eight to 10 days.

Because of a shortage of hay developing during the past winter when all local supplies were used, pastures have been hard pressed to supply forage for current needs. In most cases there has been little excess for use as hay.

The hay and pasture situation in Ouachita Parish was summarized by Associate County Agent W. B. Aycock Jr.:

"Pastures have been rather short all spring and summer. Some people grow lespedeza for hay and it is needing moisture. I know of a farmer who is irrigating it for a hay crop.

"Most farmers used all of their hay this past year when it was cold, and there seems to be a shortage occurring in the hay crop. People had better start buying hay now, because there won't be much available this fall and winter, there was no carryover of hay at all in this area."

Looking to other crops, Aycock said:

"The way we figure it, we're going to need some rain next week, because the moisture is leaving the ground pretty fast. In fact, some crops are needing rain right now. Some irrigation is being carried on for corn, soybeans, and pastures.

"Cotton is really holding its own pretty well. Everything is needing water except cotton. The rain helped truck vegetable crops an awful lot, but they will be needing more by next week. If we get a nice rain next week, they will hold for another seven to 10 days."

Body Is Found In Farm House

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The nude body of an attractive widow, Lora Guinn, 38, was found lying in a pool of blood in the kitchen of an untenanted farmhouse northeast of Wichita Friday. She had been stabbed and beaten to death.

Her clothing, shorts and a blouse, hung neatly from a protruding waterpipe on the wall. A sandal was on one foot, the other sandal lay nearby. A pathologist said the woman apparently had been sexually assaulted.

Sheriff's Capt. George Wells said Mrs. Ginn, a mother of two children, apparently entered the farmhouse with the killer who fled with the key. The house was found securely locked. There was no sign of forced entry.

FCC Probe Funds Voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ignoring warnings that its action might lead to government censorship, the House Friday voted $150,000 for the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to monitor TV programs for hints of payola or other abuses.

The funds were contained in an $8,307 billion money bill to operate a variety of independent federal agencies during the new fiscal year which started Friday. Approved by voice vote, it now goes to the Senate for final congressional action.

Agencies covered by the bill include the Veterans Administration, National Science Foundation, General Services Administration and regulatory agencies such as the FCC, Federal Trade Commission and Federal Power Commission.

CHARGES VIOLENCE

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China's New China News Agency Friday accused Indonesia of using violence and intimidation in a stepped-up effort to oust Chinese citizens now living there.

It also accused "influential Indonesian quarters" of discrimination and added "This runs completely counter to the promise made by the Indonesian government of no more forcible evacuation of overseas Chinese."

waterworks system has and how they can be corrected.

"We're working on plans for increasing the water supply available to Monroe," said Huey.

Plans will include expanding the water treatment plant considerably, enlarging the settling basins and storage, and increasing the size of water lines in some parts of the city.

Waterline changes are slated mainly in the College area and on the southern end of Monroe. Additional lines may be put in.

Smith said he won't be able to estimate the cost of the long-range project until he sees the engineering report.

Huey pointed out that the water plant "is being operated at twice the capaciy it was designed for." The present plant was built in 1927.

In May, 1960, the plant treated and delivered to the system 189,769,000 gallons of water. This is an increase of 15,530,000 gallons over the same month in 1959. The maximum daily load was 7,913,000 gallons, while the minimum daily load was 4,500,000. Daily average in May was 6,122,000 gallons.

"We're going to have to depend on the River in the future," said Huey. "We can still get by with the Bayou now, but we can drink the Bayou dry in a dry year."

Emergency changes in the waterworks are scheduled this summer.

Next week, the Commission will advertise for bids on equipment and changes in the water filtration system. The bids will be opened around July 25.

Ninety - feet of 24 - inch pipe will be installed to give additional flow of water into the filters from the secondary settling basin. One 30 - inch pipe now used in insufficient to meet the heavy water demand from local consumers.

Installation will take about two to three weeks, Smith said.

A second emergency measure also is under study. The Commission is due to call for bids within 30 days on equipment. Re-arranging of pipe is planned, to improve the quality and quantity of water that goes through the plant.

Officials said that new pipe will be installed. Work will take about 30 days.

"The people are getting mighty good water," said Huey. "The quality of the water is very good, in spite of all the difficulties the personnel has had. They're operating the plant in a very efficient manner."

Boat Service Resumed Off Cape Cod

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP)—A Loud blast from the whistle of the ferry Islander and near-fights by stranded motorists on the docks signaled resumption Friday of regular boat service to the islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket.

"It would take a dozen Solomons to settle some of these arguments," William Simmons, Steamship Authority agent exclaimed as he tried to arbitrate hot rows between irate car-owners.

More than a thousand automobiles have been stranded on mainland Cape Cod during a 2½-month strike against the state-sponsored steamship line. The strike ended Thursday night.

The islands—off the Massachusetts coast—are annual vacationland to thousands of summer visitors.

The ferry, first of the authority's three vessels to back into service, took 50 cars and 600 passengers to Vineyard Haven on Martha's Vineyard on its first run.

Honking of auto horns and angry words from landlocked motorists mingled with cheers of passengers as the big double-ender pulled out for the five-mile run to the Vineyard.

The near fisticuffs arose when there was a delay in getting the first boat under way.

The vessel had been expected to be ready in time to make a noon run and 50 cars had been booked accordingly. When the trip had to be canceled these reservations ran afoul of 50 more made for the midafternoon run.

The ferry was to make four round trips to the Vineyard Friday night and then take off for a first run to Nantucket sometime early Saturday morning.

The hard-pressed Steamship Authority ordered triple crews to man the ferry to carry on a nonstop shuttle to break the car bottleneck to the islands.

Cars have been stranded on Cape Cod because barges have been unable to keep up with the demand for auto transportation to the islands.

The costly strike ended just as both islands faced a staggering economic loss over the July 4 weekend. Martha's Vineyard, with a winter population of 8,000, averages upwards of 40,000 people in the summer.

Gravel Off To Convention, Hits La. Demo Acts

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Louisiana's controversial Democratic National Committeeman, Camille Gravel of Alexandria, left Friday for the party's National Convention in Los Angeles.

Before leaving, Gravel fired a parting shot at the Louisiana Legislature, saying the bill they passed to create offices of national committeewoman and committeeman is "meaningless".

REPEAL

He said the Legislature cannot effectively create offices that can only be created by the national committee itself. He added, "The State Central Committee recognized this when they repealed resolutions creating the two offices and followed national party procedure in nominating Harry Booth and Mrs. Jimmie H. Davis.

"With this move," Gravel said, "The State Central Committee probably removed any objection from the national committee for the two taking over their posts after the national convention ends.

Tiros Satellite Has Gone Blind

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tiros I, the weather-eye satellite, has finally gone blind.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Friday the 3-month-old satellite has "reached the end of its operating lifetime" after giving scientists an unprecedented opportunity to study the earth's cloud cover from 450 miles up.

Senate Votes To Limit Ike's Import Power

McCormack was joined by Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) in his unusual plea for Senate approval of the House measure.

Congress is under strong pressure to act swiftly to provide the President with the new economic weapon against Premier Fidel Castro's anti - U.S. regime.

The lawmakers have been told by the administration that Castro is racing now to ship big quantities of sugar to the United States in anticipation that Congress will give President Eisenhower power to cut Cuba's quota and that the President will use it.

The action by the finance committee raised the threat of a Senate-House deadlock over the terms of the legislation which congressional leaders hoped to rush through Congress this weekend.

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro Friday took over the last two foreign-owned oil refineries in Cuba and with them the problem of supplying his country with oil from distant fields in the Soviet Union.

He seized the Esso Standard Oil and the Shell Oil refineries under resolutions accusing both firms of violating a 1938 law by refusing to process state-owned crude he obtained in a sugar-for-oil deal with Moscow.

The action immediately ended all normal imports of Western oil —except for a trickle of finished products—and raised prospects of an oil famine unless means are found to expand by at least four times the flow of Soviet crude.

Duplicating a move made two days ago at Santiago in seizing the 26-million-dollar properties of the American-owned Texaco refinery, Castro sent his agents into the Esso and Shell refineries.

They rode across the bay in barges filled with Soviet oil. Once processing of this crude was formally rejected, agents of the Cuban Petroleum Institute took over the plants with the backing of armed workers.

Value of the two installations was placed at more than a hundred million dollars. Additionally, Castro's government owes the three seized refineries an estimated 60 million dollars in foreign exchange for oil already imported and processed. Normally all of Cuba's oil came from Venezuela.

The refineries had anticipated Castro's action. His agents found less than a three-day supply of crude in the Shell storage tanks and even less at Esso. They immediately began to transfer Soviet crude from emergency storage to the two refineries. Cuban workers promised to continue their normal operation. Existing reserves of gasoline and other oil products in Cuba were expected to last from 10 to 30 days.

IS DESTROYED

Titan Prototype Loses Its Control

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The first operational prototype of the intercontinental-range Titan veered sharply out of control and was destroyed about 300 feet above its launching pad Friday.

The fiery explosion ended a string of six straight successful test flights for the Titan program, which has made tremendous strides since being delayed by a series of mishaps late last year.

The 98-foot giant, powered by a modified engine, rumbled skyward at 12:29 p.m. on the start of an intended 5,000-mile flight. It was apparent almost immediately that something was wrong. The missile rose unsteadily, lurched violently to the left and nosed over.

At this point the range safety officer pushed a button and a yellow ball of fire broke through the Titan's midsection. The shattered rocket plummeted to the ground some distance from the launch complex, sending a mass of red-orange flame and black smoke mushrooming into the sky. No members of the launch crew, in a concrete blockhouse 250 yards away, were endangered. There was no damage to facilities.

The Air Force said telemetry data will be studied to determine what went wrong.

This was the initial flight for the advanced Titan "J" series, the model slated for operational use beginning next year. The main difference between it and the previous "G" series is the refined engine. The "J" engine weighs less and has fewer parts. It is designed for simpler operation and more efficient utilization of fuels.

A string of early test program accidents last year, including the explosion of two missiles on their pads, set the Titan program back several months. But the trouble was solved and in recent months the missile has been making up for lost time, nearly catching up to its original schedule.

De Gaulle Coldly Denies Red Charge

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle coldly denied Saturday an accusation by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that he had changed his opinion on disarmament.

The French President said he did not believe any progress on disarmament could be made in the U.S. General Assembly and predicted that sooner or later talks would be resumed in a smaller meeting.

Khrushchev wrote De Gaulle after the Soviet delegation walked out of the Geneva disarmament talks. The letter was dated June 26. De Gaulle replied June 30. The texts of both letters were released Saturday by the French government.

"I must tell you, first of all," De Gaulle wrote "that certain of the statements—in the Khrushchev letter—have touched and even shocked me a little bit. You set forth that the position of France on the disarmament question, as I indicated it to you during the course of our talks in March, and as I have formulated in my public declarations, has been later changed.

"Nothing of the kind. Today, just as yesterday, it is the problem of vehicles for atomic arms which seems to France to be essential.

"The fact that the Soviet government put this point of view forward in the new disarmament plan which it proposed at Geneva corresponds thus to our conception. But this should not signify that France approves the whole of your plan which includes many other clauses, and in addition, foresees dispositions very different from those that I envisaged during the talks in Paris and Rambouillet on conditions to apply to missiles and planes susceptible of transporting atomic arms.

Woman Kills Guest, Collects Her Alimony

RHYL, Wales (AP) — A Welsh court was told Friday Sarah Jane Harvey not only murdered the guest in her house but went on collecting the victim's main source of income for nearly 20 years.

Magistrates Clerk Albert Reveley disclosed his office had paid to Mrs. Harvey $5,877 since 1940.

In that year, Mrs. Harvey is accused of murdering Frances Alice Knight whose mummified body was found in a cupboard at the Harvey home only a month ago. The gruesome discovery was made by Mrs. Harvey's son while redecorating the house.

Reveley said Mrs. Knight was entitled to the money under a court order for maintenace again her dentist husband They had separated in the 1930's.

He said Knight had continued to pay the money into court over the years and it had been duly collected by Mrs. Harvey, who had explained that Mrs. Knight—arthritic case—was too ill to pick it up herself.

Israel Charges UAR Engaged In Aggression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Israel charged Friday that the United Arab Republic has concentrated troops on the Israeli-Syrian border and engaged in "aggressive actions and declarations that threatened peace.

Israeli Delegate Michael S. Comay wrote to Jose A. Correa of Ecuador, July president of the U.N. Security Council, saying he wished to call the Council's attention to "the deteriorating situation." He did not ask for a Council meeting.

Comay cited six incidents he said occurred between June 11 and June 8 that "disrupted a period of relative quiet" in and near a demilitarized zone southeast of the Sea of Galilee.

In the last, he said, Syrian military positions opened machine-gun fire on an Israeli patrol near Beit Katzir and killed the patrol commander. He said this occurred a day after Cairo radio broadcast a threat of the Syrian 1st Army commander that his troops would "first shoot and then wait for instructions."

Farmers And Labor

Commenting on the recently defeated bill to outlaw secondary boycotts in Louisiana, the Louisiana Farm Bureau News, published in Baton Rouge, said in part:

"In recent testimony before the senate industrial relations committee concerning S. 109, the proposed bill to outlaw secondary boycotts and extortionate picketing, Senator Jamar Adcock of Monroe declared that farmers are 'meddling' in local affairs.

"President Victor Bussie of the Louisiana Labor council (A.F.L.-C.I.O.) echoed this theme in opposing Farm Bureau's support of S. 109, stating that the activities of organized labor did not concern agriculture. He added that labor was 'the best friend the farmer ever had.'

"The expressions of Senator Adcock and Mr. Bussie prevailed, and the industrial relations committee killed the bill by a 7-5 vote. After determining there was not sufficient interest in the senate to overturn the committee's unfavorable report, the author, Senator Davis of Caddo-DeSoto, withdrew the bill.

"We doubt that California farmers would consider a bill to outlaw extortionate or 'organizational' picketing as 'meddling' in affairs that concern only organized labor. And we feel sure that if organized labor is their 'best friend,' they don't need enemies."

For about half a century organized labor has made it its business to interfere in the affairs of farmers by trying to unionize farm labor. In most areas these efforts have failed but through no fault of such racketeer consorts as James R. Hoffa who recently conducted unsuccessful drives along that line. Where the unionization efforts have succeeded not only the farmers but the people as a whole have suffered greatly.

When it comes to "meddling," the farmers are not in its compared to union labor, and Senator Adcock either is fully aware of that, or should be if he is to hold the position of state senator.

California fruit growers currently are facing loss of their harvest as a result of picketing aimed at forcing them to organize and pay a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour or do without labor to harvest their crops.

The A.F.L.-C.I.O. failed in an all-out drive to organize the domestic farm workers, so union agitators are using picketing tactics and legal loophole to organize "from the top down," which means they are using hired pickets to put the heat on the farmers themselves, after they were unable to get anywhere with the workers.

There is a shortage of domestic farm labor in California, so use of Mexican nationals has been authorized by the state department of unemployment. These workers cannot be utilized, however, because federal law prohibits their use on a farm where a "labor dispute" exists. This is one of the malignant forms of secondary boycotting. No dispute exists between the farmers and the farm workers but the labor organization "meddles" and creates a dispute. It was to prohibit practices such as this that the Farm Bureau sought to make secondary boycotting unlawful.

When a California farmer attempts to use Mexican nationals, a union agitator pickets his orchard or registers a complaint that he is not paying $1.25 an hour. In the absence of any state law stating differently, the California department of employment has ruled that this picketing or wage complaint constitutes a "labor dispute," even though the union agitator represents no one but the unions.

California farmers pay the highest agricultural wages in the country. Yet their fruit growers are offered the choice of letting crops worth millions fall to the ground and rot or of knuckling under and organizing their labor in the A.F.L.-C.I.O.

If compulsory unionization of farm workers proves successful in California, there is no reason the same tactics cannot be employed in Louisiana.

We hope that Louisiana farmers are not forced to suffer similar acts of extortionate picketing as a result of the legislature's failure to act favorably on S. 109, which would have prevented such tactics.

It is easy to see that the industrial relations committee was taking orders from the Louisiana Labor council and that, in doing so, it was acting contrary not only to the best interests of the farmers but of all of the people of Louisiana who depend on farmers for their food and clothing.

State Senators' Value

Accomplishments of the legislatures in Louisiana for many years have often aroused grave doubts over whether our state solons have earned what we have paid them in the past and particularly what we will pay them in the future. It is doubtful if there is a state in the union which has more consistently had rubber-stamp legislatures than Louisiana.

Louisiana has been noted for having governors with outlandish ideas. Down through the years, however, it has also had some governors that might be ranked well among state chief executive. Regardless of whether our governors have been good or bad, wise or unwise, our legislators generally have been of the rubber-stamp type.

A popular song that was the rage not too long ago said, "What Lola wants, Lola gets."

That is the way it is with Louisiana governors. What they want, they get. Their proposals may be ridiculous, extravagant, unjust or just poorly-advised. Even so, the legislators will approve almost anything that is labeled an administration measure.

Sometimes we wonder if the governor himself isn't disappointed at the fact that the legislators do not have minds of their own. He must, sometimes, wish that the state solons would exercise their prerogative of legislating the affairs of the state. The few instances when the legislators stand on their own legs are so rare that they scarcely change the situation.

Almost any state is better off if it has a two-party system, so that there will always be an opposition. If there is opposition, common sense and justice may prevail because there are usually enough independent and right-minded members in a legislative body so that the side that is right can get the balance-of-power votes. In Louisiana there are almost always so many sheep-thinkers, who play follow the leader, that the administration gets a lopsided favorable vote, regardless of whether the legislation is right or wrong.

If the governor runs the legislature, why pay to have legislators, especially in view of the fact that they recently voted to boast their remuneration?

An estimated 2.6 million Americans have or have had to some degree a crossed eye.

Current needs for medical and psychiatric social workers total about 3,600 annually in the United States.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Sees Big Sports Events

Sokolsky Watches Baseball Game, Trotting Race And Prize Fight But Mostly Talks To Politicians

I am accustomed as I am to the great outdoors life, I thought that I would go to a baseball game and a trotting race and a prize fight. The baseball game was most amusing. I went with Jim Farley, the distinguished Democrat, and he told me what was going on in the Democratic party, which spiced the ball game, that, I am told, was an extraordinarily good one.

The trotting race, I witnessed from indoors. The trotters were outside, running hither and yon, but we sat behind windows, having our dinner, while the trotters trotted. They seemed to be doing very nicely. I bet on each race and came out $23 ahead, which means that I am now an expert in picking horses. The way I picked them was by going along with certain numbers which sometimes came out well and other times badly. I won half of a daily double, but I was told that half was equal to nothing, which denies the old adage that half a loaf is better than none.

The fight that I went to was ballyhooed as the greatest. I had gone to a prize fight once before and had a ringside seat which seemed a mile from the ring—so I saw nothing and have little memory of the ordeal. This Johansson-Patterson fight started in the Stork Club where were gathered a multitude of politicians, lawyers, journalists and beautiful women. It was a pre-fight celebration. For me, it was the best part of the evening as I saw many friends, kissed politely several delightful girls, saw the philosopher, Max Lerner, freshly returned from India, watched Roy Cohn act as host in his new role of a fight promoter, and saw William Fuzazy wear a pink dinner jacket and a scalloped dress shirt.

Then we drove up to the Polo Grounds where the Giants used to play ball. Well, to get from the Stork Club to the Polo Grounds in New York, even on a busy day, is not much of a chore, but this fight night was something different. The cars were stacked up for a mile or so and I thought we would never make it, despite the fact that I drove in a car marked "official." When we came across a rare traffic cop, he could not read that sign or was a Jeffersonian, believing that all men are equal.

When we finally reached the Polo Grounds, we found that the aforesaid Jeffersonian doctrine was still prevalent, for the gatemen let in those who had and those who had not tickets. We all went in together. A great argument has developed over this doctrine of equality, Bill Fugazy maintaining that if a man paid for his seat, he was entitled to it, but if he did not pay, he should not be permitted to enter. Police Commissioner Kennedy maintained that a fight is a private enterprise and the entrepreneur should spend his money to see that the gates are properly manned. Whichever side of this controversy prevails, the disorder at the gates was a sight to behold.

Once we got in, it was something of a chore to find the proper seat, the ushers not being familiar with the layout. Also, it was being whispered that the ushers performed no service unless properly tipped which was a new device for getting money without paying income tax. I know that more persons sat in my $100 row than there were seats for.

The place was jammed, tickets or no tickets. It was said that 40,000 persons were at the Polo Grounds. It looked like more to me. Anyhow, I took a look in the press section and there were some faces I knew, having been in this business close on to half a century, boy and man, but there were many whom I never saw in any form of newspaper work. Between the press section and the $100 seats was a space, probably for people to walk. This space filled up and nobody threw the bums and free-loaders out.

The ring was at times invisible. Where I sat, there were some policemen, but they and the firemen came in uniform to see the fight.

The actual fight involved a Swede with a very white skin. He trained at Grossinger's up in the Catskill Mountains and I wondered whether his diet included marinated herring and chopped chicken liver. The other fighter was an American Negro who seemed to want to lick the Swede right from the start. It was all over in a few minutes and then the real fight started—the fight to get out of the Polo Grounds and home. I was very lucky. Our car stood behind Governor Rockefeller's. So, accompanied by a detachment of horse police, we followed the governor's car like a cortege.

Weird Phobias

Woman With Claustrophobia Won't Ride Trains, Elevators

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Will you please try to help me? I haven't been able to help myself even though I have been a strong person about most things in life.

Either I have claustrophobia or I'm "going crazy." For several years I have let this fear of being "closed in" bother me, until I have gotten to the point that I am miserable. It's not funny, and no one will know how hard I have tried to overcome it. At first I was only bothered by a few things, but now it has become serious.

I have ridden elevators all my life, now I have to walk up miles of stairs unnecessarily. I can't stand seeing the door close on me. I can't ride in the back seat of a car unless I sit next to the door. I can't ride in a train. I've never ridden in a plane. Being shut up would actually scare me to death!

The other day I started from town on a city bus which stopped to pick up a large crowd of schoolchildren. I ran out of that bus and walked home — about two miles. The children were in front of me and obscured the door of the bus.

Please don't laugh at this letter. I was never more serious in my life. Have you ever heard of one so crazy? Am I really losing my mind? How can I get over these sensations of "smothering" when I am closed in? I'll try most anything to help myself — but please don't say I've just got to help myself — by myself. I've tried, and I can't. Please, please, help. Sincerely, Mrs. C., California.

COMMENT: First off, forget that you are going crazy. There are thousands of Americans who suffer from a similar phobia who are as normal as can be.

I recall a doctor who was as frightened as you are for years. He lived into his late seventies, a brilliant and sane man to the end. When he had occasion to go out of town, he used to tell me that he would never take a hotel room above the second or third floor — for he also had a fear of height. He wouldn't look out of a fifth floor window (or higher) if you put a thousand dollar bill under his nose.

There are all kinds of phobias. Some people are deathly scared of cats; others fear open spaces as much as you fear closed ones.

In some patients, it is outward evidence of a neurosis. When that is the case, it is advisable to call in the help of a sympathetic doctor. He may not be able to cure you right away, but at least you will have that warm, cozy feeling which comes when you know you have a good friend on your side trying to help you. At least he won't say that you are "being silly."

RAPID PULSE

Mrs. S. of Ontario wants to know if it is true that a rapid pulse always means something serious. Sometimes it doesn't; sometimes it does. I am not being equivocal.

Sometimes it is evidence of a weak heart, of an overactive thyroid, of tuberculosis. But more often it is due to anything that speeds up the metabolism in a normal fashion.

For example, your pulse is fast when you exercise, when you have fever, when you become frightened. In some people with nervous (but strong) hearts the pulse is rapid for years, yet causes no trouble.

Serious or not, it is a good policy to have an examination to find the cause of a persistently fast pulse.

Hate the evil and love the good. — Amos 5:15.

Here is a brief, concise and reliable prescription for a productive life. There are a great many people in this world who do many good things, but they love evil even in their good activities. The reason they are active in church and civic enterprises is because they place a high value on public opinion and seek personal acclaim — and not because they hate sin and evil and love the good that they can do. One cannot depreciate the value of good deeds, but personal evaluation must ever be on the basis of motive rather than actions.

Father, give us ideals and motives that are akin to the love displayed by Thy Son in His labors on earth. In His holy name we ask. Amen.

Pressures Tremendous Against Giving Out Recession News

If and when the American economy again is threatened by another major recession, the pressures will be tremendous to sugar-coat the bad news — on the understandable premise that if you, the consumer, are told about the unfavorable developments, you may be scared into cutting down your own spending and thereby help make a bad situation worse.

This widely held fear about you is not warranted, according to pioneering studies of your behavior as an individual or family buyer.

Surppressing bad business news for fear it will create mass hysteria is not necessary. Actually, the suppression or sugar - coating of the news can boomerang, be dangerous, do much more harm than a plain statement about what is generally going on.

Let there be no underestimating the importance of this exciting challenge to the commonly accepted theory of your reaction to bad news about business sales, employment, profits, etc.

There is an undeniable inclination among Washington officials to emphasize the good, downgrade the bad of business news. Their seemingly logical argument goes, "we're in office, we'll get the blame for what goes wrong, our political lives are at stake here." There is an equally undeniable inclination among industrialists, big and small and in all fields, to talk down unfavorable news about the economy. Their seemingly logical argument goes, "If a customer hears things aren't so good, he'll worry about being hit himself and he may decide not to buy that coat or car, refrigerator or rug, and we'll suffer."

In view of the depth of this view about us, the findings of University of Michigan economic psychologist George Katona can be of potentially profound significance.

Katona has been head of the U-M research studies into consumer behavior for 14 years. His new book "The Powerful Consumer" is the largest single source of consumer behavior in our land, in a paper just issued by the Foundation for Research on Human Behavior he summarizes some of his evidence. Since, when Katona writes about consumers, he's writing about YOU, I suspect you'll like to see how you fit his patterns. Here are a few highlights:

You weigh business news — good or bad — in the light of your own situation, and not every family is better off in prosperous times or worse off in a recession. For the millions who do find themselves as well or better off during a publicized slump, "Things are good." Reassured about your own situation, you're more likely to step up your spending than to cut down.

A dramatic illustration of the above point about you occurred in 1954, says Katona. Many families heard "of the dire prediction about a forthcoming depression," were reassured by "the fact that they themselves were not affected. When they then stepped up their spending, countercylical tendencies were set in motion." Increased spending by these consumers, in short, stopped the downtrend, started the uptrend.

You become satiated with good as well as bad news, and when you hear a lot of a certain type of news you don't notice it. In a recession, for instance, many become accustomed to bad news, and a good item or two gets unusual attention and can have a significant impact.

You are inherently conservative — are less likely to commit errors of overexuberance during a boom and of overcaution during a decline than most businessmen. You are a more stable character than the businessmen who are fussing most about your emotionalism.

Assuming the economic shocks aren't so severe and repeated that they do lead to what psychologists call "catastrophic behavior," you can accept bad news and good and not go off base. Bad news can, in fact, inspire a response among the millions not hurt that will help set in motion the forces to turn the bad into good.

To me, this pioneering research strikes at the foundation of any Government attitude that "Papa Knows Best" or of any industrialist's cry, "Don't Print That!"

Goldwater Hit

His Book, 'Conscience Of Conservative,' Is Best Seller

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Barry Goldwater's book, "The Conscience of a Conservative", turned up on the Best-Seller list of the New York Times last Sunday. This is fairly remarkable because the book was published several months ago by an obscure house in Kentucky, and has sold up in the six figures with no help whatever from the New York Times or other arbiters of correct thinking and writing. In fact, the Times, which is as notable as the Nazis for book-burning when they disapprove, managed to ignore the Goldwater opus until it reached best - sellerdom and then only reviewed it on page 14 in a single sarcastic column.

Meanwhile, as Chairman of the GOP Senate group in charge of electing more GOP Senators, Goldwater has been speaking virtually every weekend to Republican and civic groups around the nation. He must be the frankest political speaker who has ever gone the rounds, because his practice is not to dissemble at all, for any reason whatever. A year or so ago he made one of his typical speeches at the National Press Club and left his critics gaping with astonishment. He admitted his own mistakes. He laughed at himself, and kidded his party. He refused to vilify Reuther, although disapproving of the labor leader's "power complex". Goldwater even told how he'd publicly sought the endorsement of a Communist - tainted union because he knew the membership to be composed of loyal Americans. Was there ever such a politician as this?

Goldwater is making a big hit around the country. He will go to the Republican Convention with a small beachhead of Presidential votes, and very possibly the largest single bloc for Vice President. In May, a poll of Republican County Chairmen showed him to be ahead of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge for the second spot on the ticket. More recently, in June, Goldwater was first choice for Vice President on a 25,000 sampling of the Young Republican National Federation. The Senator got 3 per cent of the total. Lodge was the runner-up with a mere 11 per cent.

Barry Goldwater has retrieved the torch which fell from the hand of Robert Taft. Goldwater is the leader and spokesman of American conservatism. We all know where the conservatives are — mostly in the West and South, in the remnants of the Republican Old Guard and in the unbroken phalanx of the Democracy of the Confederacy. In addition to movements for a Nixon - Goldwater slate, there are suggestions of putting the Arizonan on a ticket with Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. To the South, the association of any man with Senator Byrd is the highest imaginable compliment. It is almost like knighting the man with the sword of Robert E. Lee.

Well, here's a Republican who could certainly win many Democratic votes in the West and South. And here's a Republican who is inspiring several elements of the Republican community — its practical politicians who run the county organizations, its Youth Movement and its Old Guard. It shouldn't be assumed that all this enthusiasm is a spontaneous combustion. Many persons, and much money, have gravitated toward Goldwater and have combined to push the man, his book and his ideas into a position where they could be seen and judged. The judgment is remarkably favorable for a man, and his philosophy, who so far has not made a single false move in order to seek popularity.

But the ending of the 1960 instalment of the Goldwater story has a twist to it. The Modern Republicans, who control the GOP, don't want Goldwater on the ticket, even though he would appeal to votes that Nixon would like to have. The Moderns don't want to hear what Goldwater has to say, even though it is what most Republicans believe.

But the only way the Moderns can hush Goldwater is to do exactly what they most dislike — to give him the second spot on the ticket, where he would be their captive. And the only way that Goldwater can keep on speaking his piece is to avoid the nomination for Vice President which so many of his new - found followers would like him to have.

ACCUSE REDS OF SLANDER

Japan Sends Angry Note To Russia

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan told Russia off Friday in an angry diplomatic note that accused the Kremlin of "slander" and demanded that the Russians keep their hands out of Japanese affairs.

The 2,500-word note handed to Soviet Ambassador Nicolai Fedorenko by Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama bluntly rejected Soviet protests against the new U.S.-Japan security pact and the stationing of U-2 spy planes on Japanese soil.

Although Japan's traditions politeness usually carries over into foreign affairs, the note bristled with diplomatically strong language. Russia was accused of "utterly groundless" charges, "wilful misinterpretation" of facts, "intentional propaganda," and "slanderous" accusations.

Calls "Undue Interference"

Russia's protest, it said, "is nothing but undue interference in the domestic affairs of Japan."

In an apparent reference to Yugoslavia and Hungary, the Japanese note said:

"But it is still fresh in our memory that the Soviet Union has bitterly denounced certain countries in its own camp when they sought to take an independent, neutral policy, or forced them to give up such plans by oppressive measures."

Takes Strong Exception

Japan took strong exception to the Soviet charge that three U-2 planes in Japan were used for spying. It said it was Japan's own business whether it took the word of the United States that the planes were not being used to spy on Russia or Red China.

Russia said such a guarantee was "worthless."

Japan said further that Russian fears over the danger of U.S. bases in the country were "unfounded," and that American forces are needed in Japan for the safety of the nation.

Japan wants friendship with Russia, the note said, but Russia must cooperate and keep hands off internal Japanese affairs.

Prediction On News Art Is Outlined

RAPID CITY, S. D. (UPI) — Mark Ferree, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, predicted Friday night that within a few years major newspapers across the country will be printing color pictures of spot news events on a daily basis.

Ferree told the National Press Photographers Association, in an address prepared for delivery at the annual association dinner, that "your objectives of constantly improved craftsmanship and integrity of the individual are vital to the well-being of newspapers."

Ferree is executive vice president and general business manager of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers. He said development of newspicture techniques in recent years had been spectacular but had been matched by advances in radio and wire transmission of photographs.

"You are the hard-toiling members of our business who are setting the pace for the future of newspapers in photo-journalism as distinct from the older, traditional word-form of journalism on which we mainly relied for so many hundreds of years," he said. "You deserve all possible recognition and encouragement in your efforts."

Ferree sadi that as remarkable as present photographic trends were — such as taking pictures from a satellite and flashing them back to earth — there continued to be practical developments of spectacular import to the newspaper field.

Solon Remarks On Spy Charges

WASHINGTON (AP—Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) said Friday the greatest effort to pin blame on U. S. policy in the wake of the U2 spy plane incident "appears to be coming only to Moscow," from Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark).

This remark, aimed by Wiley at the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, stirred sometimes angry give-and-take between Democrats and Republicans in the Senate.

It came while Wiley, senior Republican on Fulbright's committee, was making a full-dress reply to a Fulbright speech earlier this week.

At that time, Fulbright scathingly assailed the Eisenhower administration's handling of the U2 episode and matters leading to the rupture of the summit talks. It was Fulbright's contention the administration had bungled, and that this had brought U.S. world prestige to a new low.

Wiley replied that Fulbright's view "is absolutely unjustified—and, I believe, to a degree—irresponsible."

Instead of costing prestige, Wiley contended, the U2 incident brought the Allies closer together.

Wiley said Fulbright did not shed new light but simply created "poor cannon fodder" for campaigning in the November elections.

The Wisconsin senator added that the American people have been alerted and that allegations the U2 incident was mishandled are definitely not true.

After listening to Wiley's speech Fulbright denied he had questioned the motives of President Eisenhower.

"I only questioned his judgment," Fulbright said, adding that he did the same for Wiley.

"I hope we can keep partisanship to a minimum in discussing foreign relations," Fulbright said, adding he would not insinuate that because someone differed "he might be pro-Communist."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant majority leader, said he resented "the implication that the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is second only" Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in seeking to pin blame on U.S. policy.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, also defended Fulbright.

Symington said the foreign relations committee chairman was only "doing his best to keep the people informed."

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) told the Senate sending U2 planes on spy missions over the Soviet Union was "an act of aggression on the part of the United States."

Morse said that if any president ever does such a thing again "he should be impeached."

Wiley drew applause from Sens. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) and others.

The Wisconsin Republican took particular issue with Fulbright's assertion that the United States, by spying over the Soviet Union two weeks before the scheduled summit meeting, may have "forced Khrushchev to wreck the conference by our own ineptness."

"I find it hard to believe that this apology for Soviet policy will sit well with any responsible body of opinion in the United States," Wiley said.

Mansfield voiced resentment at this, too, and said it has reached the point that any Democratic speech on foreign policy is labeled partisan by the Republicans.

But Goldwater said Wiley's defense of U.S. policies was long overdue, and that Khrushchev's admission of inability to stop four years of U2 flights over the U.S.S.R. was an acknowledgement that the Soviet Union is far more vulnerable to air attack than the Soviet people realized.

Governor Davis Receives First Boat License

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis Friday received the No. 1 motorboat license under new legislation requiring all motorboats of more than 10 horsepower to be numbered.

E. R. McDonald Sr., Newellton, former chairman of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, made the presentation.

The Wild Life and Fisheries Commission is distributing license applications forms to sheriff's offices, boat dealers and other locations in order to speed up the program of boat numbering.

A five-dollar fee, by check or money order, must accompany the application. This will cover registration of the motorboat for the first three years. Thereafter the license fee will drop to three dollars for three years.

According to the act, the owner must paint on or attach to each side of the bow of the motorboat the identification number in such a manner that the numbers are clearly visible.

Motorboats for hire or rent will have the letters "hire" painted on each side of the bow of the boat in letters nor less than one and one-half inches, and boats owned by the state or any of its political subdivisions shall have painted or attached to each side of the boat the word, "public" except those boats used for undercover or investigative work.

Motorboats and vessels subject to the provisions of this act will be divided into four classes. They follow:

Class A, less than 16 feet in length; Class 1, sixteen feet or over and less than 26 feet in length; Class 2, twenty-six feet or over and less than 40 feet in length, and Class 3, forty five or more in length.

VASSAL KINGDOM

Mustang Area Getting Help

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — The government said Friday it has sent troops to the rescue of the remote vassal kingdom of Mustang where Red Chinese army threats and pressure have forced the king of Mustang and his family to flee.

Nepalese Home Minister S. P. Upadhya reported on the latest Red threat from bases in neighboring Tibet in a speech in which he confirmed the slaying of a Nepalese army lieutenant, the wounding of another soldier and the arrest of 17 others by Chinese troops inside Nepalese territory last Tuesday.

Upadhya told the upper chamber of Parliament the situation was tense along the wild Himalayan frontier.

Red Chinese army elements were reported dangerously close to the border of Mustang, which is both a town and a separate state, 130 air miles northwest of the Nepalese capital of Katmandu.

Both Nepal and Red China claim Mustang, but the king and his 200,000 subjects, mostly Buddhists, accept aid and protection from Nepal.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, in a surprisingly mild note to the Nepalese Embassy in New Delhi, India, expressed "extreme concern" over the border flareup and promised to release Nepalese captives dragged to the Red Army center at Brahmaputra, Tibet.

Upadhya said elements of the 10,000-man Nepalese army were marching to Mustang to defend the territory against Red incursions.

Upadhya said the Mustang king and his family had fled southward, apparently deeper into Nepal, for safety.

Since Red Chinese border attacks against India began last August, there have been reports from Nepal of Army incursions and border crossings.

Red China said it was stationing troops within 12½ miles of the Nepalese border to prevent refugees from fleeing Tibet in a still-raging Tibetan tribesmen revolt against Red Chinese rule.

Upadhya said Nepal sent a party in civilian clothes under a Lt. Prasam to investigate the border.

While still 300 yards inside Nepal, the cabinet minister charged, they were fired on by Chinese troops "without provocation and without warning."

Prasa fell dead in a fusillade. Another man was wounded. The Chinese seized the rest of the party and their horses.

Nepal demanded release of the prisoners and horses, return of the body of the lieutenant and compensation for losses.

House Errs In Passing Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House discovered to its chagrin Friday that in passing a bill Thursday to broaden the minimum wage law it mistakenly voted to deprive 14 million workers of their rights to a 40 - hour week and a minimum wage.

The error, committed in the rush toward a recess for the political conventions, threw into confusion chances for enactment of minimum wage legislation this year.

The mistake made it impossible for the Senate to accept the House-approved bill. At the same time, there was considerable doubt the conservative-dominated House Rules Committee would agree to a Senate-House conference committee to draft a compromise.

The House late Thursday passed a bill to increase the $1 minimum wage to $1.15 after Republicans and Southern Democrats defeated a more liberal measure. The approved bill also was designed to extend coverage of the wage-hour law to an additional 1.4 million workers.

Friday Rep. Roman C. Pucinski (D-Ill.) rose on the floor to call attention to the error. It resulted from a slip-up in the drafting of an amendment written into the measure on the floor and sponsored by Rep. Frank E. Smith (D-Miss.).

Smith, who immediately acknowledged the mistake, said it was designed to exempt from the wage-hour law certain workers in agricultural processing plants who are now covered.

But Pucinski said the Labor Department had informed him the wording of the amendment would exclude from coverage all persons working in cities of less than 250,000 population. He said this would affect 14 million of the 24 million persons now covered.

Cited As Example

What's more, Pucinski said, the Labor Department estimated the amendment also would exclude from coverage 900,000 of the 1.4 million additional workers which the bill was designed to bring under the statute.

When it adopted Smith's amendment by voice vote, the House was operating under a debate limitation which gave the congressman only 60 seconds to explain his proposal. Pucinski said the error was a good example of why Congress should not try to legislate in a hurry.

Plane Fuelers Go On Strike At Idlewild

NEW YORK (UPI) — Service men who fuel airliners went on strike at New York's Idlewild International Airport Friday, but service was maintained by supervisory employes.

The walkout came as a union leader in another dispute warned that a clerks' strike set for 12:01 a.m. e.d.t. Sunday would cripple Pan American World Airways and the Cape Canaveral, Fla., guided missile test center.

Walter T. Coleman, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks said that 700 to 800 of the clerical workers are employed at Cape Canaveral by Pan American, which operates computers and other devices there under government contract.

The union wants a 51 - cent hourly wage increase for workers now receiving $1.29 to $2.80 an hour. It turned down a government recommendation of a 21-cent hourly wage hike.

At Idlewild, more than 400 members of Local 553 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters walked out at midnight Thursday night, upon expiration of their two - year contract with Allied New York Services, Inc.

Gibbs Says He Voted Against Pay Increase

Pointing out that he voted against a legislative pay raise, but was listed by the press as voting for it, Rep. Lawrence Gibbs Friday issued this statement, which he said he hoped would set the record straight:

"I take this means to straighten the record in regard to a recent story which stated that I had voted for a legislative pay raise.

"I have consistently voted against raising the pay of the Legislature for the past five years. Early in the current session I cast my vote against raising the pay of legislators and when the Senate amended the bill and sent it back to the House, the membership against an increase strode to the clerk's desk to change their vote.

"They realized they had voted to concur in Senate amendments to raise their monthly income $100 a month.

"I asked the House clerk to change my vote from yea to nay and was assured this had been done.

"The following day I noticed in the press that I had been registered as voting for the increase. I immediately called this to the attention of the clerk and the corrected House journal records me as voting no.

"I have always voted against raising my pay, knowing what the job paid when I asked the people to elect me."

Negroes Start Foot Stamping

BATON ROUGE (AP) — State troopers rushed to the assistance of sheriff's deputies Friday, surrounding the parish jail in the courthouse, after Negro inmates turned loose a foot stamping protest.

But things calmed down just as swiftly, after the prisoners were ordered to shut up.

The angry hollering and feet stamping by Negro prisoners broke out when the deputy in charge of the jail warned they would receive no lunch because of what he called an uncooperative attitude.

Target Area Claimed For U.S. Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department took over the Atomic Energy Commission's Mashall Islands proving ground in the Central Pacific Friday for use as a target area.

It said non-nuclear intercontinental ballistic missiles will be launched at the target area from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., 5,100 miles away.

A brief announcement referred to use of the Eniwetok-Bikini area only in connection with U.S. missile tests.

AREA

However, the impact area into which the Soviet Union fires long-range missile tests is in the general region about 1,000 miles east of the Marshall Islands group.

Underwater equipment to detect the splash arrival of missiles is understood to have been located in the Marshall Islands for some time, dating back to the January tests of Soviet rockets.

The Pentagon announcement said that even though the Eniwetok area is being made available for the use of the Defense Department's central missile range, it would be turned back to the AEC if needed for commission activities.

A spokesman said this meant that if the United States later resumes testing big nuclear weapons, the facilities which the AEC has used for more than a decade would be returned to the commission. Under suspension of bomb testing, no shots have been fired in the Marshall Islands.

The proving grounds will be operated as part of the Pacific missile range, the announcement said and added: "Missile-tracking facilities in the area will greatly increase the range's ability to evaluate missile flights made from launching sites on the West Coast of the United States."

Tax Reduction Reported By West Monroe

Ad alorem taxes on property located in Sewerage District No. 1 in West Monroe will be reduced one mill for 1960, according to Mayor J. Allan Norris of West Monroe.

The inclusion of a number of newly-annexed subdivisions in an over-all city sewerage expansion and improvement program led to the creation of a new sewer district. McGuire, Sunshine Heights and Mauldin subdivisions are located in this district.

The 1960 sewerage tax will be reduced from four to five mills because of a heavy increase in property assessment evaluation in the district.

Earthen Dyke Removal Asked

The Tensas Basin Levee Board has been formally requested to remove some of the earthern dyke at Trenton and Claiborne Streets to provide a better view for drivers on Trenton Street by West Monroe city officials yesterday. The board controls the Ouachita River levee system here.

West Monroe Mayor Allan Norris appealed to the board, in a letter, that "the sight distance is so limited in this area that it is dangerous for traffic both on and leaving Trenton Street. This fact has been demonstrated by the excessive number of accidents which have occurred at this point."

West Monroe Docket Light

West Monroe City Court docket was light today with only four cases being tried.

Jesse Manning, Negro, was fined $25 or 25 days for simple battery. Edgar Thompson, 27-year-old Negro, was delivered to the deputy sheriff from Bernice on a charge in that parish.

A charge of operating a vehicle without a driver's license against Katherine Butler, 47, 1402 North Third St., Monroe, was withdrawn.

George Douglas, 50, Negro, was fined $25 or 25 days on a charge of appearing in public in an intoxicated condition.

Kishi Party Wins Race, Event Hailed

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Nobusuke Kishi's Liberal-Democrat party handily won a provincial election Friday in which Socialists had hoped to demonstrate the depth of opposition to the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty.

Conservatives hailed the victory as proof of rice-roots support for military alliance with America. It was the first balloting since the treaty, authorizing U.S. bases in Japan for at least another decade, became effective.

Shojiro Kawashima, secretary-general of Kishi's party, told reporters the re-election of Aomori prefecture's Liberal-Democratic governor "proves that the Japanese people support the security treaty."

Gov. Iwao Yamazaki beat a Socialist who had told the district's farmers and fisherman a vote for Yamazaki was a vote for the treaty, for Kishi, and possibly for war.

The final semiofficial result was 295,198 for Yamazaki and 186,263 for Socialist Yuzo Awaya.

While Japanese flocked to the polls in Aomori, 350 miles north of Tokyo, Kishi's government handed a blistering note to the Soviet Union that overwhelmingly endorsed the new treaty, sharply rejected neutrality, and accused the U.S.S.R. of meddling in Japanese affairs.

Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama summoned Soviet Ambassador Nicolai T. Redorenko to receive the note—a one-package rejection of three Soviet protests against the treaty.

Local Link In Highway Slated Soon

Work will be underway soon in Ouachita parish, to build one local link in the coast-to-coast super-highway I-20, according to the state Highway Department.

Bids for construction on the 13-mile section of Interstate 20 stretching from Calhoun to the western edge of West Monroe will be received by the Highway Department in August.

Two weeks ago, construction started on the I-20 bridge, which will span the Ouachita River.

Assistant District Highway Engineer Elliott Ross said Friday that two contracts will be given on the local I-20 project. One is for clearing, grubbing, grading, drainage structures and overhead structures. The second includes soil cement, sodding and concrete.

However, the contracts can't be awarded until the state completes buying land in the path of the route.

Two Charged After Accident In W. Monroe

Charged with reckless driving and causing a wreck were James M. Kunn, 29, 631 Smith St., and Erma W. Argeneaux, 28, 1116 Evergreen St.

According to official reports, the Argeneaux vehicle was going east on Montgomery Street, and pulled into the right traffic lane to make a right turn. No signal was given before pulling over, police said, and the east-bound Kuhn automobile, which was attempting to pass Miss Argeneaux on the right side was struck by Miss Argeneaux.

Damages to the vehicles was estimated to be more than $100, but no one was injured in the accident.

PRODUCED SYNTHETICALLY

Scientists Outline Chlorophyll 'First'

NEW YORK (AP)—Chlorophyll—nature's green wonder chemical that makes food from sunshine, water and carbon dioxide—has been synthetically produced for the first time, it was reported Friday.

Both U.S. and German scientists have produced this remarkable chemical engine of nature that creates sugar and other materials by photosynthesis.

It holds promise that man may be able to mobilize abundant simple chemical elements on earth to produce more food, and so support his rapidly expanding population.

The announcements came hours apart—first from the German Chemical Industry Federation in Frankfurt and then from Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

Two German scientists — Prof. Martin Strell and Dr. Anton Kalojanoff, both of Munich Institute of Technology—reported they had made the first synthetic chlorophyll.

But within hours, Harvard University said its Dr. Robert B. Woodward had produced the world's first synthetic chlorophyll last January, and the work was to be published July 20 in the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

The German work, spokesmen for Harvard said, had been published March 7 in a German scientific journal.

The reconstruction of the complex chain of atoms that is chlorophyll has been one of the most difficult tasks of modern chemistry.

Dr. Woodward and the German scientific team apparently took somewhat different tracks toward the same goal.

The Germans were said to break down natural chlorophyll and systematically rebuild the synthetic chlorophyll on the old foundations and debris.

Charmingdale Subdivision Opens Doors

A portion of Charmingdale Subdivision, featuring the first aluminum exterior homes in the area, has been opened by the Big River Enterprises, Inc., it was reported yesterday.

The subdivision is located on Columbia Highway 165, about 10 minutes from the center of Monroe.

To launch their operation, a model home will be open for inspection over the Fourth of July an 18 - hole golf course, community center, which includes a swimming pool and shopping center. There will be bus service in the subdivision hourly.

Streets are concrete with ample lighting. A complete sewerage system and electric facilities are also a part of the setup.

Features of the homes, officials said, are old brick accents, ceramic tile baths, walnut finish cabinets, new neo - fleck interiors, vinyl asbestos floors.

The subdivision also has side walks and is located close to elementary schools.

Negro Stabbed Here, Police Seeking Culprit

A 20-year-old Negro youth was stabbed last night about 10:15 in the Owl Street Bar here when he and another Negro had an argument, police said.

Lonnie Pumphrey, 3212 Owl Street, was taken to the Charity Hospital for treatment of a stab in the left side. Officials said they believed that he would be released last night, but hospital officials declined to say other than that he was not in bad condition.

Monroe City Police are looking for Hubbard Williams, 34, of Griffin Street, who they believe did the stabbing. Williams will be charged with aggravated battery and illegal use of a dangerous weapon, police said.

Monroe police also arrested two persons on charges of disturbing the peace. They are Coy Knox, 52, of Clover, S. C., and Rosy Ann Johnson, Negro.

Jesse J. Greely, 26, of 2304 Oak St., was charge with operating a vehicle with an improper muffler and Walter Brooks Jr., 29, Negro, 1318 Breard St., was charged with reckless driving.

CRACKDOWN

Bishop Warns Catholic Drivers

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Bishop Maurice Schexnayder of Lafayette cracked down on reckless drivers Friday and warned that Roman Catholics guilty of criminal negligence in fatal accidents would be denied Christian burial.

Catholic authorites in Lafayette said they believed the edict unique and the first of its kind in the nation.

The order came as the long Fourth of July holiday began and safety officials expressed fear of a heavy death toll on the nation's highways.

The bishop's order said that "in order to further emphasize the grave moral responsibilities involved, we hereby order that, henceforth, drivers of vehicles who are declared by the competent police officials to have been criminally negligent in highway accidents resulting in death to themselves are not to be given Christian burial, unless the chancery office has first been consulted and the facts of the case warrant such burial."

Catholic dogma holds that while Christian burial is not essential to salvation, those refused such services are denied the benefit of community prayers and church rites. The bishop's order does not forbid burial in consecrated ground.

The edict ended that while the action "is quite severe, we trust it will impress upon the faithful the seriousness of the moral issue involved in such cases and that they be more readily impelled to avoid those excesses which invite highway disasters.

The order does not apply to those who are involved in accidents where death results to others, authorities in the diocese said, but they added the Church feels they must live with their own consciences and must atone through other avenues of penance.

The order made no mention of specific past accidents, but a four-car collision in New Iberia, near Lafayette and in the Lafayette diocese, killed nine persons last week in one of the year's worst traffic disasters.

In New Orleans, Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel said he had no plans to issue an order along the lines of Bishop Schexnayder's ruling. But the archbishop said he has in the past cautioned that young people should be schooled to drive carefully.

W. Germany Is Nearing Two Parties

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany moved a step closer to a two-party political system Friday with collapse of the right-wing German party.

Nine of the 15 members of Parliament from the German party announced they were switching over to Chancelor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party.

This act removed the German party from representation in the Bundestag—lower house, leaving only the Christian Democrats and the two opposition groups, the Socialists and Free Democrats. Under parliamentary rules, a political group must have at least 15 members to be seated as a party.

The German party, which has been an Adenauer coalition ally, is a nationalistic grouping largely from the farming regions of the north German plain. Its tendencies are conservative.

What the remaining six members would do remained to be seen. The party's executive committee is to thrash out the problem at a conference Saturday in Hamburg.

Among the nine doing the turnabout were two of Adenauer's Cabinet members, Hans-Christoph Seebohm, the transportation minister, and Hans-Joachim von Merkatz, minister for relations with the Bundesrat—upper house.

Seebohm is official spokesman for the Sudeten Society, which steadily urges self-determination for the three million Germans expelled from Czechoslovakia after World War II. The Communists call Seebohm a Nazi.

The nine members who made the switch issued a declaration two hours after the Bundestag went on summer recess. They said they took the step because they were convinced the party could not play a major role in next year's federal elections and expressed belief they could pursue their policies better inside the Christian Democratic Union.

Flag Raising Turns Into Maine Dispute

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Raising the new 50-star flag in Maine July 4 has turned into a giant dispute over which one of three mountain tops will be first in the nation to fly the new standard in the morning sun.

While tempers boil atop the mountains, the Air Force plans a quiet ceremony at a peaceful lake in south-central Maine, raise the flag, then ship it by jet to Hawaii and raise it the same day in the newest state.

Various organizations are sponsoring the ceremonies on the theory that they will be the first to have the flag greeted by the sun as it creeps over the horizon about 4:37 a.m.

All were somewhat disillusioned when the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey recenlty announced no one spot in Maine has exclusive rights to claim it is the first place in the nation to see the sun because the situation changes with the seasons.

Without becoming involved in the dispute, Gov. John H. Reed has decided to attend the ceremony at the northernmost peak in question—1,661-foot Mars Hill, not far from his home town of Fort Fairfield.

Other ceremonies are planned at Maine's highest mountain, 5,265-foot Mt. Katahdin near Millinocket, and top the state's easternmost peak, 1,530-foot Mt. Cadillac outside Bar Harbor on Mt. Desert Island.

The jet-borne flag raising at Poland Spring is an idea of M. Sgt. William Duggan, Air Force recruiting supervisor in Maine, and Richard Oransky, a public relations man. They believed it is possible to raise the flag at sunrise, have it shipped by commercial jets 5,000 miles to Honolulu and have it raised in front of the Pacific Air Force headquarters building at Hickham AFB some 17 hours later.

Monroe Man Attends Meet

Eugene Cahn of Monroe, a member of the North Monroe Kiwanis Club, is attending the 45th annual convention of Kiwanis International in Miami, Fla.

A total of about 16,000 people are on hand for the affair — the largest in Kiwanis' history.

REP. MELVIN PRICE (D-Ill) poses in his Capitol office with a conceptual model of the airframe for the first U.S. nuclear - powered plane. He said the model had just been taken off the hush-hush list. Price said in displaying the model that he believes Russia is far ahead of this country on atomic aircraft development and added that "if President Eisenhower had made the trip to Moscow they would have flown the first nuclear plane for him" as a propaganda move. CAPITALISM APOSTLE

Eaton Receives Lenin Peace Prize

PUGWASH, N.S. (UPI) —Millionaire Cyrus Eaton, 77-year-old apostle of capitalism who got his first job from John D. Rockefeller Sr., returned to his Canadian home town Friday to receive the Lenin Peace Prize from Communist Russia.

Eaton accepted Russia's answer to the West's Nobel Peace Prize at his ancestral home from Prof. D. D. V. Skobeltzyn, director of the Soviet Academy of Science's Institute of Physics.

The ceremony, attended by the Soviet ambassadors to the U.S. and Canada and a large crowd of dignitaries, was timed to coincide with Dominion Day, the celebration marking Canada's 93rd birthday.

Along with the prize came 100,000 rubles, the equivalent of $25,000, which the Cleveland industrialist said would be used "to advance the cause of peace" through the Pugwash Movement, the annual gathering of intellectuals from all over the world at Eaton's home here to discuss ways of preventing war.

Pugwash's modest population of 700 swelled to about 10,000 for Thursday's ceremony — and for Pugwash's annual gathering of the clans and fishermen's regatta.

"I accept the International Lenin Peace Prize with the warmest gratitude," said Eaton. "For the USSR, leader of the Socialist nations, to pay such respect to an acknowledged apostle of capitalism from the U.S.A., leader of the Capitalist countries, offers a hopeful omen for bright days ahead."

Eaton has visited Russia and been the guest of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He has entertained Khrushchev at his suburban Cleveland home. After the collapse of the summit talks in Paris, Eaton flew to Europe for a meeting with the Soviet Premier.

In presenting the award, Skobeltzyn said Eaton had done a great deal to help the dream of a stable peace come true. The Russian also got in a word about failure of disarmament talks. He said the West did not come up with any real, positive proposals.

At a news conference after being decorated with a gold medal, Eaton called for more propaganda to promote peace. He said there should be more talk of peace by newspapers, radio stations, teachers and nations.

Eaton said he subscribed to Russia policies only insofar as they are dedicated to building up great institutions in their countries.

"But," he said, "I hope you will not feel that the world has to get into one camp where every man has to believe the same thing. I believe in tolerating differences of opinion and I am strong for debate and I am conscious of the infinite fallibility of the human mind, including my own."

Eaton has become as well known in recent times for his friendship with Russians as for his industrial genius. As a young man, he trained for the Baptist ministry but went to work as a secretary for John D. Rockefeller. Eaton so impressed Rockefeller that he was promoted and by the time he was 27, was a millionaire out on his own.

The industrialist was scheduled to fly back to Cleveland Saturday. His next Pugwash conference will be held in Moscow. He will be host to world scientists at talks to begin Sept. 11.

Mob Outraged At Attack Upon Girl

LEOMINSTER, Mass. (UPI) — An outraged crowd of 1,500 shouted "lynch them" Friday as a gang of 10 suspects was brought under heavy guard for a court hearing on mass rape charges involving a 19-year-old girl.

Eight of the 10, plus two juveniles, were charged with dragging the screaming girl from a car where she was parked with her 20-year-old boy friend last Friday.

The girl was raped repeatedly and the couple was driven around for 3½ hours in the escort's car before they were released.

Each of the eight charged with raping and kidnaping the girl and robbing her escort of a few dollars. Two of the suspects, were held on accessory charges.

Held in total bail of $670,000, the suspects, aged 17 to 29, were brought from Worcester County jail for the hearing on a total of 52 counts. The case was continued at the end of a day-long hearing until Tuesday to determine whether the suspects should be held for grand jury action.

"Lynch them, hang them, break their necks," shouted the angry citizens who lined the streets and nearly blocked the front entrance to the courthouse. Police brought some of the suspects to a rear entrance to avoid the crowd but found another muttering, shouting mob.

Gov. Collins Prepares For Demo Position

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. L. Collins of Florida arrived here Friday to prepare for his job as permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention and, in view of "rigging" charges, immediately promised to conduct the proceedings in a fair and impartial manner.

Collins, on arriving at Union Station, was asked by newsmen whether he had ever been approached to help "rig" the convention for any candidate.

"No," he replied, "and to the contrary I don't think it has been rigged for anyone. I am absolutely free and will be fair and impartial to every candidate and every person."

Collins said he had talked already to all the major candidates and "even some dark horses" and assured them of his impartiality.

The "rigging" charge was brought up Thursday by National Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler. Butler said he was advised that unspecified radio and newspaper reports stated he had "rigged" the convention for Sen. John F. Kennedy. He said these charges were attributed to former President Harry Truman and to India Edwards, a supporter of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and a former vice chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

Truman announced this week he was resigning as a Missouri delegate and would not attend the convention.

Collins said he would try to get in touch with Truman by telephone and urge him to come to the convention.

Prices Bid Higher On Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—A bullish report on development of the corn and soybean crops attracted a strong demand in futures trading Friday and prices were bid substantially higher.

Soybeans, in their broadest advance of several weeks, posted gains of 2½ cents or more for all deliveries while corn moved up major fractions to more than a cent. Other grains were steady to firm.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel higher, July $1.83⅜-¾; corn ½-1⅝ higher, July $1.16⅜-½; oats unchanged to ½ higher, July 70¾; rye ⅛-1 cent higher, July $1.17⅝-¾; soybeans 2½-2⅞ higher, July $2.13⅛-¼.

Cyprus Republic Obstacle Removed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Full agreement has been reached on the military bases to be retained by Britain when Cyprus becomes independent, it was officially announced Friday night.

This removed the last obstacle to establishment of the Cyprus Republic under the already elected president, Archbishop Makarios.

Lucille Ball Falls, Suffers Concussion

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Lucille Ball slipped and fell Friday preparing for a comedy scene with Bob Hope and suffered an apparent concussion, doctors said.

Miss Ball was knocked momentarily unconscious when she stumbled getting into a boat for a scene with Bob Hope in their movie, "The Facts of Life." The famed comedienne quickly regained consciousness but was carried from the set and taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for X rays.

A hospital attendant said her condition was satisfactory.

The accident occurred on the Desilu lot where she and ex-husband Desi Arnaz made their "I Love Lucy" television series.

Cameramen were preparing to shoot a comedy sequence involving only Hope and Miss Ball when the actress slipped. Witnesses said she apparently struck her head in the fall.

The set was ordered cleared when the accident occurred.

SUES VICTOR BORGE

NEW YORK (UPI)—A suit for $750,000 has been started against comedian Victor Borge by his personal representative, Harry D. Squires, attorneys for Squiares reported Friday.

The suit claims Borge failed to pay fees and expenses to Squires from 1953 to the present. Borge was served with papers in the suit Thursday, Attorney Morton Miller said.

'Death Slide' Dropped Off Performance

NEW YORK (AP)—The "Death Slide," a performance that fulfilled its ominous name, was dropped from the program Friday of the British military tournament and show.

It had culminated in a fatal plunge at Madison Square Garden Thursday night of its star participant. But 10,000 spectators, unaware the act had changed into grim actuality, applauded.

British officials said the daring exhibition, in which 30 other Royal Marines took part, will be eliminated from the show. Other features will continue through Sunday.

The tragedy came when a Marine commando leader, Capt. Antony Laurence Easterbrook, 31, plummeted 85 feet from a roof-high platform. The fall occurred in the finale of a hair-raising performance in which the Marine commandos slid in rapid succession—without use of hands—down a 200-foot rope fastened to the garden roof at a 45-degree angle.

Theyy assumed various comic poses—as swan divers, or dangling by their toes—as they zipped downward. Then came the climax.

Easterbrook stepped out on the ceiling platform. He had trained the others in the act, based on a commando tactic for descending cliffs.

A tall, rugged man, he was clad ludicrously in the traditional British clerk's garb: A black suit, bowler and carrying an umbrella. Grasping a strap hooked to the rope, he was to wave and do somersaults as he shot downward.

But suddenly he plunged straight down, umbrella held aloft. The lights went out. His body hit with a thud.

Apparently because of the mood of the buffoonery, the applauding audience didn't realize until an announcement later that the fall had been unintentional.

Rep. Powell Says Trying To Halt Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) announced Friday he is trying to form a stop-Kennedy movement among the 83 Negro delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

The Negro congressman said that he has endorsed Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) over Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) for the party's presidential nomination.

But he told a news conference he also was urging Negroes to support Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) as an "acceptable" candidate.

The Harlem lawmaker said the Negro delegates would represent "60 or 70 actual votes" and he predicted the balloting will be so close that "50 votes can mean the nomination."

Powell assailed Kennedy's record on civil rights in 1957 when Congress enacted the first law in that field since post-Civil War reconstruction days.

Powell also denounced endorsement of Kennedy by Gov. John Patterson of Alabama and Alabama Highway Commissioner Sam Englehardt. He called Englehardt "a leading segregationist."

Powell said Sen. Johnson, whose support comes mostly from the South, was "the only leader of the Senate, Republican or Democrat, to force the passage of civil rights bills — 1957 and 1960 — in 82 years."

Powell's news conference was devoted almost entirely to statements on behalf of Johnson — even though he said he was backing Symington as having "the more perfect record." He said he was spelling out his views in letters to the Negro delegates.

The congressman, who bolted his party in 1956 to support President Eisenhower, denied that he would do the same if Kennedy is nominated this year. He said he would not campaign for or against Kennedy.

As for Adlai E. Stevenson, a possible dark-horse nominee, Powell said he would support him "if he would renounce his image of 1956." He said this image was one of "moderate and compromiser."

Officials Work On Returns In North Dakota

BISMARCK, N.D. (UPI)—Official canvassers Friday began the job of determining whether Democratic Rep. Quentin Burdick really won North Dakota's farm belt weathervane senatorial election.

Final unofficial returns from all of the state's 2,313 precincts showed Burdick winding up with a paper thin 831-vote lead. His total was 104,178 to 103,327 for Republican Gov. John Davis.

Burdick, already the first Democratic congressman in North Dakota's history, was flying home from a hero's welcome in Washington to a victory celebration in his home town of Fargo, N.D.

Among his North Dakota welcomers was the Fargo widow Burdick wooed and won while conducting his cliff-hanger campaign. The 52-year-old congressman, a widower himself, revealed to Washington newsmen that he would marry Mrs. Jocelyn Peterson of Fargo next Thursday.

Mrs. Peterson was not talking to reporters at her Fargo home. Her fiance described her as thirtyish, the mother of two children, and a Republican.

National Democratic leaders, including Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and party Chairman Paul Butler, hailed Burdick's apparent victory as a farm belt revolt breaching one of the Republican Party's greatest strongholds.

Republicans, including Vice President Richard M. Nixon, admitted the news from North Dakota meant the GOP had a fight on its hands to keep the farm vote in November.

Woman Gains Citizenship At Age Of 64

CARBONDALE, Pa. (AP)—For many years Theresa Bonacci, 64, Italian-born, yearned to be an American citizen. She prepared for the big day with great pains, and not being satisfied with her progress, went over the ground again and again.

Finally she was approved for citizenship.

Even then it seemed she might not make it. Because of an infirmity she could not go to Scranton, 15 miles away, and take part in the required ritual of naturalization.

But Judge John W. Murphy, of U.S. District Court found a solution. If Mrs. Bonacci couldn't come to court he'd take the court to her.

So for a while Thursday the modest home of Joseph and Theresa Bonacci was transformed by the presence of the judge, most of his staff, a federal examiner and a large gathering of admiring relatives and friends. The courtroom flag was in place and all the formalities were scrupulously observed.

After the oath was administered, Judge Murphy told Mrs. Bonacci the country had gained a deserving citizen indeed.

TURNS DOWN SUGGESTION

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan turned down a suggestion Thursday that he name a minister for peace and disarmament in his cabinet.

He told Laborite MP Maurice Edelman in the House of Commons that the foreign secretary could carry out all the functions of such a post.

Railroad Heads Eye Suggestions

CHICAGO (UPI) — Railroad negotiators and union representatives of nearly 600,000 off-train workers Friday "explored" a presidential fact-finding board's recommendations for settlement of their year-long wage dispute.

Theodore Short, a spokesman for the carriers, said the two sides were swapping interpretations of the fact-finders' proposals and had not reached the bargaining stage on any section of the board's report.

At a meeting Thursday, the first since the board returned its recommendations June 8 and left members of 11 non-operating unions legally free to strike July 8, union representatives "expressed disappointment" at the recommendation of a 5-cent hourly wage increase, Short said.

However, they did not indicate either rejection or acceptance of the recommendations, Short said, and raised no threat of a walkout that could cripple the nation's rail transportation system.

In addition to the 5-cent increase, the fact-finders recommended that the carriers and unions negotiate improvements in health and welfare program "in lieu of a further general wage increase in early 1961."

Four big operating unions representing engineers, conductors, firemen and trainmen settled with the railroads last month for two-step, 4 per cent wage boosts that will average out to about 10 to 11 cents per hour. The agreements with the operating unions did not revise health and welfare provisions.

Strong President Is Seen As Need

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Friday that the United States needs a super - strong president and streamlined government machinery to meet the challenging domestic and foreign policy problems of the future.

He told a Senate subcommittee one of the challenges involved the question of whether this nation is ready to take a permanent active role in a "free world confederation" or an "Atlantic community." He said present policy does not call for such a step.

To give the country strong leadership, the New York governor recommended appointment of two new high-level aides for the President. They would be a cabinet "first secretary" for national security policy and an executive assistant for government management.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) subcommittee chairman, commented that a strong "first secretary," plus strong secretaries of defense and state, would call for a "superstrong" president.

"Well, that's what our country needs," Rockefeller replied.

Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming told newsmen later that President Eisenhower might propose in his final State of the Union Message next year creation of a new super-cabinet office along the lines recommended by Rockefeller.

Flemming noted that Eisenhower called for a study of the idea back in 1957.

The governor's testimony at the jam-packed hearing was praised highly by both Democratic and Republican members of the Senate group, which is studying the government's policy - making machinery.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D - Pa.) told Rockefeller he made "a magnificent contribution" to the subcommittee's work. Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) said Rockefeller had "an astounding grasp of problems."

During his testimony, Rockefeller touched briefly on some issues he has raised in his recent "constructive criticism" of Eisenhower administration policies. Upon his arrival in Washington, he said his statements had been designed to put vitality into the GOP.

The governor told the Senate group that America's rate of economic growth could be increased 25 to 50 per cent by more effective government organization.

This was an indirect reply to Vice President Richard M. Nixon's recent criticism of what Nixon called the "growthmanship" school of economics. The vice president said this school favors government spending to expand the nation's economy.

Dr. Moore Rides In Ambulance

The fire department ambulance was called by companions when Dr. Moore was staggering and hobbling on the outskirts of the nation's capital.

They explained that she had encountered difficulties when pebbles got into her shoes as she walked through the Virginia mountains.

Best Air Conditioner Under The Sun

(that's where an air conditioner has got to be real good)

WHEN THE WEATHER REPORT SAYS 90°—IT'S OFTEN 115° UNDER THE SUN! FEDDERS IS ENGINEERED AND TESTED TO COOL EFFECTIVELY IN 115° HEAT

Air conditioners are tested and rated for BTU's inside a laboratory ... with the temperature set at 95 degrees. Plenty warm, sure. But in the sunlight outside your window where your air conditioner will actually operate, it's likely to be 15 to 20 degrees hotter.

Many people overlook this fact when evaluating an air conditioner solely on BTU's. They forget that the Weather Bureau measures temperatures in the shade. It's likely that your own ideas about your local summer weather seriously underestimates the heat load your air conditioner will have to contend with.

That's why, over and above their big BTU ratings, Fedders Air Conditioners are engineered ... manufactured ... tested to cool effectively at 115 degrees. That's 20 degrees hotter than the temperature at which BTU's are measured. It represents the reserve cooling power your air conditioner needs to work properly in mid-summer sunlight.

It will pay to look beyond mere BTU ratings when selecting your air conditioner. In competitive tests against air conditioners with similar BTU ratings, a Fedders Air Conditioner pulled room temperatures down faster ... held them lower with the outdoor temperature at 115 degrees. Most of the other air conditioners tested failed to cool as well ... or turned off altogether to avoid permanent damage from overheating.

To live happily this summer, make yours a Fedders ... the sunproof air conditioner.

Eisenhowers Observe 44th Anniversary

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower, observing their 44th wedding anniversary, arrived here Friday for a Fourth of July weekend at their farm.

The President and First Lady traveled by automobile, making the 85-mile drive in 1 hour, 32 minutes. They reached the farm at 4:07 p.m.

Eisenhower had planned to make the trip by helicopter, but rain and overcast skies caused him to switch to a limousine.

The Eisenhowers plan to stay at the farm until Monday evening or Tuesday morning. Then they will leave Thursday for a lengthy vacation at Newport, R.I.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS ON THE INCREASE

Chronic bronchitis is not an innocent disease, especially if the individual is coughing up thick sputum. If this puslike discharge were coming from any other place, the individual would be concerned because he knows it means infection. Let's not kid ourselves — thick sputum is pus and it means infection of the air passageways.

The mouth, windpipe, bronchi, and air sacs of the lungs teem with bacteria. These micro - organisms do no harm unless weakening of the membranes allows them to enter the tissues.

The most common cause of bronchitis is constant irritation from air pollutants such as tobacco smoke; automobile exhausts; rubber, tar, and other dusts; gases and chemicals. This may explain why the disease is becoming more common. Bacterial invasion also occurs when resistance is lowered as a result of a respiratory infection.

Some chronic bronchitis victims cough up purulent sputum only during an acute cold. In the interim they continue coughing but the discharge is more watery. Others bring up thick sputum only during the winter time and the more liquid material during the summer. Still others have purulent sputum thruout the year.

But cough is only part of the story. Bronchitis is damaging the lung tissues constantly, including the lining membranes and blood vessels that absorb oxygen from the air. In some instances, chronic irritation leads to cancer. In the majority, the ill effects are not noted until after age 50, when the individual becomes incapacitated gradually by shortness of breath.

The ideal solution to the problem is to stop smoking and strive for cleaner air. When this is not possible, the antibiotics may be needed to eliminate bacteria, along with drugs that help bring up the sputum.

Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on bronchitis if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

SKIPPED BEATS

Mrs. J. S. writes: For three weeks, after heavy physical exertion, my heart has been skipping a beat regularly. I'm 46 and in good general health. Is this heart condition serious?

REPLY

It may not be serious but a thoro examination will be needed to find out.

OPERATION DURING PREGNANCY

E. J. A. writes: Is it possible to have an appendectomy during pregnancy?

Reply

Yes. Many emergency operations have been done on pregnant women to save life. In most instances the pregnancy continues without complications.

SOOTHING MOISTURE

H. F. C. writes: Is the liberal inhalation of steam helpful for a cold?

REPLY

Yes. Moisture has a soothing effect upon an irritated nose, throat, and bronchi.

ONCE A CESAREAN

Mrs. M. writes: If a woman has one cesarean must all her future pregnancies end the same way?

REPLY

It is advisable because after one cesarean, the uterus has a large scar that may not be able to withstand the force of labor contractions. Many obstetricians set the limit at three.

MEMORY AND INTELLIGENCE

Mrs. L. B. writes: Does the ability to memorize indicate a high I.Q. in a child?

REPLY

It's a good sign that the I.Q. will be above normal. On the other hand, I have known children who had a good memory but nothing else.

Justice Denies Goldfine Stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Felix Frankfurter of the U.S. Supreme Court Friday denied a stay to Boston financier Bernard Goldfine and his secretary Mildred Paperman, convicted of contempt of federal court in Boston. Under the ruling they will be taken in custody Tuesday to begin serving their sentences.

Goldfine, New England textile magnate, was sentenced to three months, Miss Paperman to 10 days in prison.

The Supreme Court last Monday refused to review the contempt judgments which resulted from refusal to obey a court order for production of records sought by the Internal Revenue Service in 1953.

CLOTHES MAKE YOUR MAN

This Man Wants Air-Cooled Slacks

By HARRY JUSTER

DEAR MR. JUSTER: I don't profess to be a designer but would like to make a suggestion that I think is practical for summer slacks. Coats are made with a vent. Why not a vent at the bottom of the trouser legs either on the side or back? It certainly would be a lot cooler and also make it easier to slip them on or off.

George B.

An air vent, so to speak. Rather a novel idea. Just how would you keep the bottoms from flapping as you strolled along? Seems to me this would be both annoying and unsightly. Wear your lightweight slacks a little shorter and slip them on or off, with your shoes removed, and you'll accomplish as much.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: At our company's 50th anniversary dinner I was reprimanded by an Ivy Leaguer for my attire. I wore a fairly new 3-button, black silk suit, wide spread collar, white shirt, gray and white fine - striped tie and black shoes. This fellow wore a light brown ivy model suit with a button - down, colored shirt. Why was he better dressed than I?

O.L.

Who said so, outside of this self - appointed style authority? Your outfit will make my well - dressed list anytime. This "friend" is the one who needs a few pointers. Wearing Ivy is O.K., but light brown with a colored, button-down shirt? That's fine at the office or class reunion, not for this kind of affair.

DEAR Mr. JUSTER: I bought a couple pair of wash and wear slacks figuring I would save on cleaning and pressing bills. You should see what happened to them after my wife put them through the washing machine! Yet several fellows at the plant claim their slacks are washed in a machine and they look perfect. How come?

Puzzled

Your wife probably is leaving these slacks in the washer right through the spin dry process. This will make them look like something the cat dragged in. Have her take them out before the spinning process starts, hang them up and let them drip dry. You'll see quite a difference.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Perhaps you can help us on a little clothing problem. We are quite excited about going to Europe this summer. We're going tourist class on a luxury liner. Neither my husband nor I know whether he is supposed to wear a white dinner jacket in the dining room. Is this required or is a dark suit all right?

Mrs. W.G.

Is the tourist class dining room the only place he intends to use a white dinner jacket? If so, leave it home. It's not required. Baggage weight and space are always a problem when you are on a tour. Use the space for the things that really are needed.

TIP FOR THE DAY

He Was So Right

It was Mark Twain who said, "Clothes make the man. Naked people have little or no influence on society." These words, written over 50 years ago apply even more so today. In our complex, keenly competitive society clothes, while they won't make the man, certainly can help.

Representative Says Reds Near Atomic Aircraft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill) said Friday that Russia is on the verge of flying the world's first atomic powered aircraft.

"They're just waiting until they need propaganda to fly it," he told a news conference.

Price, a member of the Joint House - Senate Atomic Energy Committee, warned that a Russian fleet of nuclear - powered bombers would pose a "definite threat to our unprotected southern borders."

He quoted the Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas D. Powers, as saying the United States still "has nothing to cope with the problem."

Price criticized the administration for not speeding development of the plane. "If ever there was a project studied to death," he said, "the nuclear plane is it."

The United States has spent $980 million on nuclear aircraft research during the past 11 years. Expenditures for the current fiscal year, which began Friday, will be approximately $150 million.

Price revealed for the first time existence of a model of the first U.S. nuclear plane, developed under a $5 million engineering contract with Convair. He said the plane, under present spending levels, could be flying in about five years.

Solon Attacks Gov. Davis On Building Sale

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. E. J. Grizzaffi, St. Mary Parish, said Friday Gov. Jimmie H. Davis ignored facts in the proposed sale of the civil courts building in New Orleans.

"He sold the people down the river in return for the votes of the Orleans delegation," he asserted.

"That bill smells almost as bad as the Mellhenny thing," he added.

Earlier in the session, Grizzaffi's attack on the House floor led administration floor leaders to withdraw a bill which Grizzaffi charged violated public interest.

In a State - Times interview, Grizzaffi said:

"I think it's a mistake to sell that property — we have uses for it. And I think it's a mistake to sell the Highway Department laboratory site out there on Florida Street. The first thing you know, somebody will want to sell the Capitol for $1.40."

"Maybe that wouldn't be such a bad idea at that," he added. "it would save the state a lot of money if the Legislature has no place to meet."

He referred to legislation, finally adopted Thursday, backed by Davis and New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison, to sell the state-owned civil courts building in the French Quarter for $1,000,000, half to the city for $400,000 as a park, half at public auction for not less than $700,00.

Bus Strike Collapses In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A four-day wildcat bus strike collapsed Friday and service rapidly returned to normal on the city's largest private line.

A back - to - work movement among the 1,400 rebel union drivers got underway at dawn. By midmorning, strike leaders had no choice but to officially call off the walkout.

The end of the strike put 753 buses back on the 21 routes of the Omnibus Division of the Fifth Avenue Coach Co., in Manhattan and Queens.

An estimated 500,000 daily passengers returned to their regular buses. They had been only slightly inconvenienced during the strike, since alternate transportation was readily available.

The drivers defied their transport workers union when they walked out in protest against further conversion of Manhattan's north-south avenues to one-way traffic. They claimed the resultant rescheduling of bus runs costs them jobs, wages and seniority.

The city kept hands off in the strike and went ahead with plans to convert Third and Lexington Avenues to one-way July 17.

At Idlewild Airport, 400 aviation fuel truck drivers struck for higher pay. They are members of the Teamsters Union who load fuel into airliners. Supervisory personnal kept most of the planes running but several flights were delayed by as much as two hours.

Strikes of construction workers also hit New York City and suburban Rockland County, threatening to halt millions of dollars worth of new construction. Wages and working conditions were at issue.

Still another strike in New York involved 260 social workers at 24 Jewish childrens' day camps, scheduled to open over the weekend to an enrollment of about 10,000.

Tulane Senate Asks Education Endorsement

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Tulane University senate Friday called on Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to endorse and actively support "free uninterrupted public education" in the city of New Orleans and the state of Louisiana.

The senate is composed of the deans and directors of the university's 10 colleges and schools; two faculty representatives from these colleges and schools; and the president of the university who serves as ex-officio chairman of the senate.

The letter to the governor said "As educators directly involved in the educative process, we are deeply concerned about the far-reaching and disastrous consequences of even a temporary suspension of public education."

Such a suspension, the letter said, would mean "The spread of actual illiteracy; the migration of our gifted youth to more secure environments; the loss of good teachers who might never return. . .

The letter also said that "the experience of other Southern communities has proven the inadequacy of substitute 'private' schools operated, in part, with public funds."

The educators' letter urged rejection "Of this plan which would work extreme hardship on the children of parents with small incomes, who would be left largely with no schooling. . .

"We urged, therefore," the letter ended, "that our public schools be kept functioning without any break in the continuity of their service, a service so essential to the very life of any community."

WOMAN'S WORLD

Luncheon, Bridge, Patio Parties Given This Week To Honor Miss Burnett

Inspiration for a series of parties this week is the approaching marriage of Miss Luada Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Barry Burnett of Monroe, to Lawrence K. Parisey son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Parisey of Elizabeth. The couple will wed July 9.

Climaxing festivities given during the week was a luncheon Friday by Mrs. Clay Wilson. Pink asters in a silver bowl centered the pink - covered luncheon table in the private dining room of the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, where the gala event was held. Completing table appointments was the cranberry crystal.

Places were marked for Mrs. William Barry Burnett, Mrs. Jessie Varnado, Mrs. Bill Hardy, Mrs. Lewis E. Alexander of New Orleans, Mrs. Sara Lou Sims, Miss Martha Kay Williams, Miss Sallie Oliver, Miss Fran Guthrie, Miss Jo Libby Johnston and Miss Edwina Hopkins.

DESSERT BRIDGE

Yellow and white daisies in silver bowls brightened the living room in the Carroll Johnson home on North Sixth Street when Mrs. Johnson entertained with Mrs. Lewis E. Alexander of New Orleans at a dessert bridge party Thursday evening to honor Miss Burnett.

Guests wore bermuda shorts to the informal party, and Miss Fran Guthrie won the prize for high score in bridge.

Enjoying the buffet supper and bridge game which followed were Miss Jo Libby Johnston, Miss Sallie Oliver, Miss Fran Guthrie, Mrs. Bill Hardy, Mrs. Sara Lou Sims, Mrs. Lewis Alexander, Mrs. William Barry Burnett, the honoree and her hostesses.

THOUGHTFUL

NEW YORK (UPI) — The habit of throwing rice after a wedding ceremony is linked to the oriental meaning of rice. In the Orient, the giving of rice is a way of saying — "may you always have a full pantry."

Dinner, Tea, Informal Fete In Tallulah

Miss Nancy Goss and Kent Naquin were honored with a dinner party following the rehearsal of their wedding at the First Baptist Church in Tallulah at the home of Mrs. Frances A. Robinson. Mrs. Robinson was assisted by Mrs. C. E. Williamson.

The tables, overlaid with pink linen cloths were centered with silver candelabra enwined with miniature ivy sprays and accented with giant daisies. Place cards featured a tiny bride and groom and at the bride-elect's place was a corsage and wedding bells.

Guests for the festive occasion were Miss Peggy Bourgeois of Morgan City; Manning Naquin, Bob Szabo, and Mr. and Mrs. John Love, all of Lafayette; J. Y. TEA

Among the courtesies extended Miss Nancy Storey during her engagement days was the tea at the William Yerger home at Locust Grove plantation with Mrs. William Yerger, Mrs. John Field Montgomers and Miss Eloise Yerger as hostesses.

At the entrance and in the sun parlor there were arrangements of daylilies in a variety of shades. Elsewhere in the reception rooms were magnolia blooms, lilies and silver candelabra holding white candles. The centerpiece on the refreshment table was of white floribunda roses and daisies with white tapers.

The guests included Miss Freda White, Miss Betty Jo Oakes, Miss Sherrie Smith, Miss Barbara Loe, Miss Dorothy Anne Woodyear, Miss Sandra Caldwell, Miss Kay Rhineberger, Miss Myrtis Wyly, Mrs. Paul Schwartz, Mrs. Jesse Anderson, Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. Fred Massey, Mrs. T. ANSWER to the perfect summer ensemble. Wear the halter-back sheath with or without the brief jacket, both equally flattering. An interesting bit- the collar on the jacket tying casually.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Hooray For Unmarried Miss Who Likes It!

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My problem has gotten me to the point where I think I will end up in a mental hospital if something isn't done. The question is — what CAN I do?

My husband's parents and my parents hate each other like poison. Of course I'm inclined to side with my folks, and Frank sides with his. When holidays come I wish I could crawl in a hole and stay there.

Frank insists we spend every holiday with his folks because "they are older and probably won't live as long as my folks." His folks are in their 50's. Mine are in their 40's.

Our two little boys are the only grandchildren on either side. My in-laws spoil the kids something terrible. They give them candy and cake when I say "no" and they let them stay up til midnight.

My husband says his folks love the kids more than my folks because they buy them expensive gifts. My folks haven't got the money, and it makes me feel just awful when he says such things. Please, tell me what to do. I'm going to pieces. —LOLLY

Dear Lolly: You need outside help. I suggest a frank talk with your clergyman. He should call on both sets of parents (individually, of course) and explain that they are ruining your marriage.

Holidays should be shared. Alternate between the two. And I respectfully suggest that you and your husband unwind emotionally from BOTH sets of parents and become more independent.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an unmarried, attractive, eligible girl. I'm not man-hungry, since I enjoy my career and have many outside interests.

I see no reason to be ashamed of the title "Miss" but thoughtless clods make a point of it by saying, "How come you aren't married yet?" Invariably it's a single guy who poses the question. I'd be eternally grateful if you could come up with a good answer that would squelch them up once and for all. Thank you. —MISS WHO DOESN'T MISS MUCH

Dear Miss: Why not say, "I'm still unmarried because I haven't found a guy who deserves to be as happy as I can make him" It's pretty cocky, but it oughta work.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a wonderful man but he does have a few peculiarities. One of them is a love for maps.

He brought home an enormous map of the world and hung it on the wall in the living room. It isn't anything special, it's just a plain every - day map. When friends come in they ask why the map is there. He says, "Because I want it there." Then they ask if we are planning a trip and he curtly tells them that we are not.

I don't want to make a big issue of it but that map is causing a lot of comment among our friends and I personally think it ruins the looks of our living room. He says it's a nice conversation piece. I agree that it's a conversation piece, but I don't care for the conversation. What do you suggest? —SMALL VOICE

Dear Small: If your husband likes plain ordinary maps, and wants to hang one in his living room, what's wrong with that? If you have children, they're bound to learn some geography. Enjoy the map while there's still a world.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Find Extra Room This Summer, Then Decorate

By BETTY PEPIS

Summer is as good a time as any to find an extra room around the house, and it might be a whole - family project to decorate it in light - hearted, frivolous fashion. New materials abound which would simplify this for even the rankest amateurs.

A breezeway might be converted to an extra room by fitting it with appropriate furnishings; flooring it with fiber rugs and using the sides of the house like indoor walls, adding ceramic pictures or weathered wood carvings to them.

A part of a two-car garage or a portion of an unfinished basement or attic room might be subjected to a decorating plan that would give it previously unexpected usefulness. Pegboards are easy to attach to a whole wall to give it a finish and now come in colors bright and light that do not even require a coat of paint. They also afford a surface on which anything — sports equipment, amateur art, attractive record covers — can be attached for built-in decorations.

Flooring is expensive, and despite the claims of some, difficult to lay without professional help. Wallpaper will, however, survive at least a season in the sun and if given a light coat of lacquer will take on a decently polished appearance. Replacing it the following spring should not be too much of a chore and appropriate patterns today are legion: consider brick, or even bamboo (which the Japanese do walk on) or a closely spaced leafy pattern which will create the impression of walking in a glade.

Plastic "ribbons" come by the yard in bright, cheerful colors and are a great asset to untrained home handy men. They adapt to many uses: can be strung on poles to make a neat version of a vertical blind at a window, or woven basket fashion on a chair to replace worn webbing.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Reasonable To Expect Child To Use 'Mrs.'

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Today, at first meeting, an adult's first name is given and acquaintances are expected to use it. It has reached a point where children as well as other adults assume this privilege.

Mrs. B. C. writes:

"Dear Mrs. Eldred:

"I wonder if I am pig-headed or old - fashioned in demanding that children call me Mrs.? I am new in the neighborhood and I seem to stand alone in my expectation.

"I was even asked over the phone to give my first name to a 2½-year-old because 'he doesn't know last names.' Yet this child, very bright, can recite all kinds of nursery rhymes.

"I feel that children should address their elders properly. Perhaps a dear friend can be called aunt or uncle even if there is no relationship. I am told the modern way is to use first names. I would be interested in your opinion."

MRS. ELDRED SAYS—

My opinion is that children should call grownups by the title of Mr. or Mrs. This is a form of respect for their years and supposed wisdom. It does depend somewhat on the age of the child. For example, at 10 or so, if the child is in daily association with the adult and extremely friendly, the first-name privilege could be granted.

Perhaps we lose something of real value when we bring ourselves down to the level of the child or elevate him to ours. A title has dignity. It offers us a status which has been gained by years of living. There is no reason to look upon this status as valueless.

So long as adults remain in the position of care-taker, or protector or disciplinarian to the child, this status will serve them well.

You needn't be hide-bound about this, but you have a point and I would not be ashamed to stick to it.

If you would like to have our 10 - cent booklet "Neighborhood Problems" send 10 cents plus an addressed, stamped envelope. Address your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Suits Filed On Long Wreck Of Last Year

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Four members of Gov. Earl K. Long's party involved in a Fourth of July highway accident while Long was campaigning last year Friday sued for $52,000.

One of the governor's cars was traveling north on State Highway 26, about five miles from Jennings, when it collided with a pickup truck owned and operated by Ellery J. Jeanise of Welsh.

The suit was filed in the names of Atty. Joe Arthur Sims of Hammond, one time candidate for lieutenant governor on Long's ticket last year, Curt Siegelin, Baton Rouge, former state director of Commerce and Industry; David J. Bell, the former governor's cousin, and Gerald Moses, United Press International newsman.

Defendants named were state Trooper Joe Anselmo, who was driving the 1959 Cadillac sedan in which the four were riding, and the Insurance Company of Pennsylvania, insurer of the state-owned auto which had been assigned to Long's office.

The district court suit charges Anselmo with excessive speed, reckless driving and failure to keep the vehicle under proper control.

Sims asks $20,000 for medical expenses, past, present and future physical pain and suffering, mental pain and anguish and permanent disability; Siegelin seeks the same amount, Bell and Moses seek $5,000 and $7,000 respectively for injuries.

SENDS GREETINGS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower sent greetings Friday to the Republic of Ghana on its becoming a republic.

He also extended best wishes to Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, president of Ghana, who was inaugurated on Friday.

"In the more than three years of close relations between an independent Ghana and this country strong bonds of friendship and mutual interests have developed," the President said. "It is a sincere hope of the government and people of the United States that these bonds will continue to grow stronger in the years to come."

Questions And Answers Guide For Homemakers

By BETTY PEPIS

Q. — We are moving into an apartment with a picture window, below which is a permanently installed air conditioner. I would like to know whether to use long or short draperies. My rug is black, furniture toast and walls beige. What color should I use for draperies? I have thought of orange but am open to suggestions.

A. — Floor - length draw draperies would be best. You will be able to hide the air conditioner as well as uncover it for operation. Behind the draperies use opaque window shades, white or beige, which will protect your privacy when the draperies are opened. The shades will, by enabling you to shield the room from direct sunlight, make operation of the air conditioner more efficient and less expensive, as well as eliminating the need for lining draperies. A print of orange, on white or beige ground, would be better than solid orange which should be used for accessories.

Q. — I have an old Victorian summer house at the shore. I plan to refurnish the living room keeping only a royal blue rug. What colors should I use for wall, chairs, curtains?

A. — White, yellow and green would be wonderful with blue and would have a fresh, cool and summery feeling. Paint walls and woodwork white. Floors might be stained a brown - black and highly polished; this will set off the rich blue rug. Yellow sailcloth might be used for covers for one chair, and cushions for blue-painted dining chairs. Blue and white mattress ticking would make inexpensive and washable slipcovers for other furniture. The curtains could be made from yards of white fishnet, or mosquito net gauze, or more conventionally, from the blue and white striped ticking. Bright yellow and leaf green pillows and accessories, and flowers and plants in tubs would be cool touches.

EXPECTS OPPOSITION

The Mexican ambassador, after a meeting with President Eisenhower, indicated he was confident the United States government will oppose congressional efforts to raise tariffs on lead and zinc. He declined to say whether the Chief Executive had given him any promise.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Pillsbury Co. announced it has completed negotiations to purchase the assets of Tidy House Products Co. Shenandoah, Iowa, terms of the acquisition were not disclosed. NEW YORK (UPI) — Bendix Corp. announced acquisition of a controlling interest in Disenadores Y Constructores, S.A., a leading Mexican tool and die firm. Bendix said it plans to add automotive air-brakes, carburetors and other components to the present line of the Mexican company. Financial details of the acquisition were not revealed.

PRODUCTION INCREASES

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. produced more passenger cars during the first half of this eyar than in any other similar period except 1955, the company's official production figures showed Friday.

The official figures showed the division produced 839,552 cars, including Thunderbirds and Falcons, compared with 36,216 in the same period a year ago. The all-time high for production in the first six months of the year was 894,947 in 1955.

The six-month figure was accomplished despite a drop in output during June. The division produced 130,680 cars in June this year compared with 142,989 in the same month a year ago.

WALL STREET VIEWS

July Is Greeted With High Hopes

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street greeted the second half of 1960 Friday with high hopes of business improvement and stock market recovery.

The market opened the year at an all-time high, sagged badly, recoupled nicely and slipped again.

He said that although the Dow Jones industrial average fell back after climbing to the 660-level, it put on an impressive show of strength.

"As it looks now," he said, "the market is poised to go on to its long-awaited summer rally.

"I think it is safe to say that we are going to see a sizable improvement in business during this half of the year. And that gain should be carried over to the stock market."

Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co. commented that the stock market, 'as a whole, "could use some 'growthmanship' over the final half of 1960, and so could business."

He listed possible favorable developments in the next six months as more defense contracts, easier money to help homebuilding and a reduction in the 90 per cent margin requirement for buying stocks.

"Furthermore," he said, "a lot of different groups of stocks are quoted at recession levels, such as many coppers, oils, rails, steels, chemicals, heavy industries and rail equipments. Hence, there is room for a stock market recovery if we start getting a batch of good news."

A. M. Kidder & Co. feels it is probable that early next week "cautious traders who have been reducing holdings because of the conjunction of a long holiday and a difficult international situation will be back in the market as buyers.

"While the market's potential for the early summer looks less impressive than it did a short while back, it still appears that the averages will make worthwhile gains in the coming month."

B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohu & Stetson is of the opinion that the market is at or near an important support level.

He says the rails show every sign of being in the first stage of recovery and the steels and motors have been able to absorb heavy selling without losing ground.

"These patterns of behavior do not necessarily forecast an extended rise," according to Thurlow, "but they do suggest that the buying recently has been stronger than the selling and that with any kind of a change for the better in the day-to-day news higher prices could materialize rather quickly."

Stock Market Is Moving Erratically

Industrial stocks rose 0.68 to 6431.30 in their average, chiefly on gains of 1½ in Du Pont, 1⅝ in Eastman Kodak, 1¼ in General Electric and 1¾ in Procter & Gamble.

Trading dwindled steadily to the finish as many traders made an early break for the long July 4 weekend. Volume tapered to 2,620,000 shares from 2,940,000 the day before and was the least since 2,530,000 shares changed hands on May 23.

Utilities closed at 93.49 up 0.10 in their average and their highest closing level since April 8, 1959.

The best gains were made by stocks outside those used to compile the averages. Of a total of 1,200 issues crossing the tape, 562 advanced, 42 to new highs and 12 declined 14 to new lows.

Electronics featured gains of 3 points in IBM, 2½ in Texas Instruments, 2¼ in Siegler, 1⅞ in Varian and 1⅜ in General Instruments.

Steels were irregularly lower. The United Steelworkers Union predicted the industry's operating rate would fall to 48 per cent of capacity next week. Lukens gave up ¾, U.S. Steel ⅝ and Bethlehem ⅛. Youngstown and Republic lacked on fractions.

Texaco lost ⅞. The stock has been weak since the Cuban government seized its refinery in Santiago de Cuba earlier this week. Premier Castro also has taken over the refineries of Royal Dutch and Esso, but the stocks of these companies firmed on the day.

Electronics led stocks irregularly higher in moderately active dealings on the American Exchange.

Butcher Hog Market Climbs To New High

CHICAGO (AP) — The butcher hog market topped at $18.75 a hundredweight Friday, the highest in almost 18 months, as buyers noted that the supply of 3,000 head was the smallest in more than six years.

Prices were as much as 40 cents higher on offerings under 230 lbs. Heavier kinds were steady and sows were weak at 25 cents lower in spots.

The mixed No. 1-2 and 1-3 grades in the 190-220 lb range brought $18.25-18.75. The top was the highest since the same price was paid on Jan. 6, 1959. The 190-230 lb mixed 1-3 and 2-3 grades were $17.50 - 18.25 and heavier weights, mostly mixed lots, $15.50-18. Sows cleared at $12.75-15.75.

Slaughter steers moved at steady prices with high choice and mixed choice and prime bringing $27.25-27.75 and strictly choice $26.75.

A few good to mixed good and choice heifers moved at $22-24.50, vealers at $18-25 for standard to good grades and utility to commercial bulls at $19.50-21.50.

Spring slaughter lambs grading mostly choice were steady at $21-21.75 and ewes $4.50-6.

Thomas Jumps 7-3¾, Styron Finishes 6th

Hurdler Fails To Make U.S. Team

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — John Thomas of Boston University soared to the astounding level of 7 feet 3/4 inches in the high jump Friday for a world record and a spectacular climax to the first day of the U. S. Olympic tryouts.

Thomas' great leap bettered his own previous mark of 7-2. A few moments earlier Thomas did 7-3½. The crowd of 41,000 let out a mighty roar both times.

The first day of the two-day trials to determine the squad that will represent the United States at the Olympic Games in Rome starting Aug. 25 brought surprises and heart-breaks.

Lost to the team was Bill Nieder of Kansas, who earlier this year set a shot put record of 65 feet 7 inches. His effort of 61-9 put him fourth. The first three men in each event automatically were named to the team.

Dallas Long of Southern California won the shot with 63-6¾ and Parry O'Brien, the defending Olympic champion, was second with 62-3¾ and his Los Angeles Strider teammate, Dave Davis, third at 62-3½. Thus ended the long and bitter rivalry between the four greatest shotputters in the world.

There were other heart-breaks beside Nieder's. Greg Bell, the defending champion in the broad jump, failed to make the team as a newcomber, Ralph Boston of Tennessee A&I shot out in front with a great 26-6½.

Along with the heart-breaks were pleasant surprises, including Boston's broad jump.

Thomas was not content with 7-3¾ in the high jump. The bar was raised to 7-4½—almost a pole vault—but he failed three times with only the first being fairly close.

The bar in the high jump at 7-2½ and 7-3¾ was carefully measured both before and after the leaps. Thomas cleared both heights cleanly and there seemed little question but that his last might effort would be accepted as a world record.

The accepted world mark is 7-1 by Yuri Stepanov of Russia, set in 1957, which Thomas already smashed thoroughly.

The javelin was fraught with drama. Bill Alley of Kansas on his first toss did 269-7½ and then collapsed on his second throw, with a spike wound in one calf. He suffered a strained muscle high in his back and was carried off the field in a stretcher, but he limped back and did 266-4. Al Cantello won the event with 277-7, and Terry Beucher of Kansas took third place on the team with 255-11.

Dave Sime, formerly of Duke, realized his life ambition of tying for third with Paul Winder of Morgan State and thereby making the team. All four were timed in :10.4.

All will be taken to Rome and will run as the 400-meter relay team, with Norton and Budd competing in the open 100, and the coaches deciding on the third entry for this event between Sime and Winder. Four years ago Sime was considered a cinch for the team until he was hurt in the NCAA championships.

Dyes Competes Today In Trials

STANFORD, Calif (Special) — Star Northeast State College hurdler Don Styron failed to make the U. S. Olympic team here last night, finishing sixth in a great 400-meter hurdles race won by former Ohio State standout Glenn Davis in 49.5.

The first three finishers in the event will go to the Rome Olympics with the fourth place hurdler to be an alternate.

Styron ran a 50.7 race in the preliminary trials, then was clocked in 50.3 in the finals. Running under the banner of the Northeast Louisiana Track Club, Styron was in contention until the final hurdle.

Dickie Howard of New Mexico University and Cliff Cushman of Kansas tied for second in the spectacular race with 49.8 clockings. Eddie Southern, formerly of the University of Texas, was fourth at 49.9 and Josh Culbreath fifth at 50.2. Rex Cawley, Southern California freshman, was seventh behind Styron.

TIGERS' BATS BECALMED

Dykes Befuddled By Weak Hitting

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Dykes is befuddled and bewildered at the becalmed bats of his Detroit Tigers, but he sees one consolation in the situation.

"The manager can't make any mistakes," he says wryly. "The pitching and the all-around defense are fine. If I have to take out a pitcher in the eighth or ninth for a pinch hitter, it's the only thing I can do. And our relief pitchers come through.

"The team just isn't hitting, and there's nothing a manager can do about that. For a while we used moving pictures to try to show the batters what they were doing wrong, if anything. That didn't work, so now we pay no attention to them and just let them fight their way out of their slump.

"This is the first club I've had where all eight regulars went bad at once. I've benched most of the players at one time or another, but the bench men I've put in their places get sympathetic or something, and they do just as bad."

"I'm suffering," he moans, "and there's just no answer to it. The batters have the potential. The team hit .258 last year. Now its hitting about .220. When Al Kaline hits hard, it's caught. Rocky Colavito is a streak hitter. When he's not hitting he can look terrible on balls right across the center of the plate.

"It's a shame to waste the pitching we've been getting. The earned run average for the staff is around 2.60, I think. Jim Bunning has won four in 15 starts, yet his ERA is 2.48."

Dykes holds his head when he thinks of two recent losses to Baltimore, 2-0 and 1-0. "Eighteen innings, and we get no runs," he says hopelessly. "In four straight games we left a total of 45 men on base.

"We lost 10 straight on the road at the start of the season. On our last road trip we won 8 of 12. But we can't beat Kansas City. They've got us 2 and 7."

So Jimmy is just waiting it out. The batters have the potential, he says. If only they wouldn't take so long realizing it.

Cards Take Pair From Milwaukee

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis dealt Milwaukee's first-place drive a double blow Friday night with a doubleheader sweep, 8-7 in 10 innings and 7-5.

Johnny Glenn and Joe Cunningham delivered the winning hits and Ernie Broglio won both in relief after the Redbirds blew leads of 7-0 and 5-0.

Glenn, a rookie at 32, clubbed a two-out 10th inning single off veteran Lew Burdette to win the opener. Burdette had walked Ken Boyer intentionally to get to Glenn.

Cunningham's two-run double off the right field screen with two out in the eighth won the second game.

Smoky Joe's blow came just in time—a bare five minutes before the 12:30 a.m. baseball curfew. Broglio, now 8-4, then stopped the Braves in the ninth, which started just before the deadline.

Boyer, breaking out of a slump, was 6-for-9 in the two games with four RBI. Cunningham, also batting back from the depths, was 5 for 8.

WEST MONROE, RAYVILLE WIN

Monroe Juniors Clinch Tie For Fifth District Crown

Monroe, with a healthy assist from Rayville pitcher Stuart Dyer, clinched a tie for the pennant in the Fifth District American Legion Junior Baseball race by topped Ruston, 4-2, last night behind Lynn Causey's one-hit relief pitching.

Dyer pitched a one-hitter at Rayville to hurl his club to a 5-0 victory over second-place Farmerville. Causey came in with two out and two runs in in the first inning at Monroe and blanked Ruston on one bad-hop single the rest of the way.

West Monroe put down a last inning rally by Bastrop to take an 8-6 decision at West Monroe in last night's other game.

Last night's results, with three games remaining in the season, left Monroe's Brown - Rivers - Scogin team virtually in as the pennant winner but left the rest of the league standings skin-tight. Bastrop, Ruston and Rayville are tied for third with 5-7 records and West Monroe only a game back at 4-8. Farmerville is 7-5. The top four teams in the league compete in a playoff to determine the champion after the regular season.

Ruston scored twice in the first inning last night off Monroe starter L. M. Welch. Lefthander Welch hit one batter, walked three and allowed one hit to Pearman Smith. One run came home on a passed ball and Welch walked Charles Shuffield with the bases loaded to force in the other before Causey came in with the sacks loaded and two out. Lefty Causey coaked Melvin Shows into a grounder to first to end the frame and had the visiting T. L. Jones nine under control the rest of the way.

Shuffield hit a bag-hop single past Joey McGinn at short in the sixth for the only Ruston hit off Causey, who walked four and struck out four.

Monroe scored all its runs in the first. Ruston pitcher Jerry Hood walked two before Melvin Jordan slammed a triple to plate both runners. Carl Guinn followed with a double to score Jordan, went to third on Charley Biggar's grounder and scored on McGinn's single.

Bobby Stuckey was the leading hitter for the Nichols Motors outfit to drive home two runs. Claude Patrick got a triple. Rayville got six hits altogether and did not make an error afield. Farmerville committed three bobbles.

Three unearned runs in the first inning put Bastrop on the ropes and four more runs in the second stanza iced the game away as Dan McClure's West Monroe club picked up its fourth win of the year.

Handcuffed by Charles Taylor's three - hit pitching for six innings, Bastrop made it a race to the wire, scoring four runs in the final, chasing Taylor and leaving the potential tying run at second base. Teddy Johnson came on in relief of Taylor to preserve the victory.

Lanky Floyd Murry, a 6-4 lad who looks every inch of it, went 1 1-3 innings for the losers but was touched for only three hits. Five errors by his teammates knocked the props from under him as West Monroe scored three runs in the first on only one hit and four in the second on a pair of safeties.

A walk to Billy Doerner, a bathandle single by Fred Newton and two errors paved the way for the West Monroe splurge in the first. A double by Newton and a single by Cline Averett, coupled with three more errors handed the hosts four runs in the second.

Murry, who swung the biggest bat of the game, blasted a home run over the right field fence behind Jim Cbunn's triple in the third to give Bastrop it's first two runs.

West Monroe ended it scoring in the fourth when Doerner, who starred defensively in centerfield, stroked a single, took second on a wild pitch and scored on Newton's third straight hit.

Three singles and a throwing error by Taylor on a possible double play ball kayoed the West Monroe starter in the seventh as Bastrop fought back with three quick runs. Johnson came on then, allowing one more run before getting pinch hitter Knight on a fly to center to end the game.

Newton's 3-3 paced West Monroe while Murry and Don Cox had a pair of hits each for Bastrop.

THE WARS — PRESENT AND FUTURE

It's two months until football season but the American Football League has already won three big games. The fledging circuit has wrapped up three of the biggest names in college football, Billy Cannon, Charley Flowers and Johnny Robinson.

The AFL signed plenty of college stars during the winter but the previously-mentioned three were snatched away from the established National Football League in head-on court battles.

That the courts ruled against the NFL does not appear nearly as important to the fact that the Dallas ... AFL ... the NFL ... National League was—but offers the "greatest"—with the new circuit still ...

College football still draws well in Los Angeles despite record-breaking attendance at the Rams ... are out, with the presence of another pro football team with good drawing cards like Flowers ... the first few seasons may bring a decline in college football attendance.

LEELAN JOEL WILEY, broad jumper and hop - step - jump star of the Southern California Striders, told Northeast's Jerry Dyes "You have the potential to be the greatest hop - step - jumper in this country's history." Northeast Coach Lew Hartzog reports Dyes is by far the youngest entry in the hop - step - jump in the Olympic trials.

Nieder Fails To Make Team In Shot Put

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Young Dallas Long, Southern California's burly baby, won the shot put Friday in the Olympic trials—a stunning event that saw Bill Nieder, owner of the world's longest toss, unable to qualify for the team that will go to Rome.

Long, USC's 20-year-old sophomore from Phoenix, Ariz., hurled the 16-pound shot 63 feet 3¾ inches, surpassing Parry O'Brien's 60-10 in the trials four years ago.

O'Brien, who now competes for the Los Angeles Striders, finished second at 62-3¾, and his Strider teammate, Dave Davis, grabbed the third U.S. Olympic spot with 60-8½.

Despite Long's prolific heave, the excitement was caused by Davis—a late arrival—and Nieder, the fourth of America's great shot-put quartet. Nieder finished fourth with 61-9¾.

Davis was 25 minutes late. He arrived as the other shot putters were already taking their preliminary tosses. Davis, huffing and puffing from a quarter-mile run to the shot put area, explained to the judges that his plane was late.

They allowed him to take a couple of practice heaves while the other contestants were already firing for keeps. Excited and nervous, Davis still managed one of his best puts of the year.

Nieder had difficulty getting an arc on his throws; almost all of them were line drives. His right knee ailing, Nieder's thigh and calf were heavily taped. He fouled once on a 63-foot throw, stalked off by himself, disgusted. Nieder has a 65-7 put pending.

Pappas' 4-Hitter Beats Sox, 4-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Milt Pappas hit a two-run homer, his first hit of the season, and held the Chicago White Sox to five hits Friday night for a 4-0 victory by the Baltimore Orioles.

The second-place Orioles moved within one game of the American League leading New York Yankees, whose game with the Detroit Tigers was rained out.

Pappas' smash over the left field fence coming in the fifth inning after Jim Busby walked, was the second of his major league career. The first also was against the White Sox, on July 2, 1957.

The blow, which boosted Pappas to his seventh victory against five defeats, ruined a fine pitching effort by Chicago's Billy Pierce.

The lefty had given up only two other hits, a single by Walt Dropo in the fourth inning and a double by Gene Woodling in the sixth, before yielding to a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Pierce, suffering his fourth loss against six victories, fanned three and walked two.

The Orioles added two more runs in the eighth off reliever Bob Rush on doubles by Woodling and Jackie Brandt and a single by Gus Triandos.

Buhl, Jay Caught Stealing Signals?

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Milwaukee Braves, armed with field glasses, tried to steal Chicago Cub pitching signals Thursday from the Wrigley Field bleachers, according to Cub officials.

Pitchers Bob Buhl and Joey Jay, who hurled for the Braves in Wednesday's doubleheader, were named by Cub officials as the spies-in-the-stands.

A fan spotted them stationed in the center field bleachers, ostensibly peering through field glasses at Earl Tappe, the Cub catcher, and wig-wagging signals with white scorecards.

The fan hastened to the Cub bullpen to report the chicanery and pitcher Bob Anderson sprinted to the Cub bench to tell Manager Lou Boudreau. Trainer Al Scheuneman was dispatched to the bleachers and confirmed that the snoopers were Buhl and Jay.

This all happened in the sixth inning when the Cubs rolled up five runs on seven hits. That was enough to chase Buhl and Jay from their bleacher seats and propel the Cubs to a 11-5 victory.

Stuart Hits Bucs Past Bums In 10th

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dick Stuart, hitless in three previous trips, dropped a run-scoring single in the 10th to give league-leading Pittsburgh a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

Charles Neal's seventh homer of the year in the top half of the 10th had put the Dodgers ahead ...

Rookie Joe Christopher started the Pirates two-run rally in the 10th with a double to right and scored with a headlong dive as Roberto Clemente beat out a high bounder to second. Clemente raced all the way from first base on Stuart's single to right.

Fred Green, who relieved Vern Law in the 10th, picked up the fourth victory. The loser was Larry Sherry, also in relief.

Roseboro's fifth homer of the year in the seventh after Frank Howard singled, accounted for the Dodgers two other runs.

Through the first five innings both Law and Johnny Podres had allowed only two hits each.

Hill Surprising Leader After Flint's First Round

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Davey Hill, a brash youngster just a few years removed from the caddy ranks, stunned a star-packed field in the first round of the Flint Open Golf Tournament Friday with a 4-under-par 68 that gave him a one-stroke lead in the $52,000 event.

The crew-cut, 23-year-old Hill, playing before the home folks in his native state, led veteran Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., by a stroke.

A non-winner in a dozen professional tour events, Hill's only victory in two years as a pro was in the 1959 Michigan Open.

Hill has been an erratic performer on the play-for-pay circuit and his best finish was a seventh place tie in the Hot Springs Open three months ago. This is the first time the skinny rookie from Jackson, Mich., now playing out of Denver, Colo., has been in the lead.

He had only one over-par hole on the sprawling Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club layout, a par 36-36—72 monster that stretches 7,280 yards.

Twenty-six of the game's top 29 money winners were in the starting field of 150 shooting for top money of $9,000 in the third annual Flint Tournament. Only 18 golfers were able to master par.

Littler, a many-times winner was a picture of consistency. He had no bogies, but made only one putt longer than 3 feet. He reached 17 greens in regulation figures.

Trailing Littler with 2-under-par 70s were four players including Tommy Bolt of Crystal River, Fla. Bolt, the terrible tempered one, complained of feeling poorly despite a 36-34—70. He said, "Man, I was too tired to lift a club, and I just know I couldn't have thrown one today."

Deadlocked with Bolt were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and long-hitting Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La. A dozen players were another stroke back at 71, and 13 others equaled par with 72.

The field will be trimmed to the low 90 and ties at the 36 hole mark Saturday night. A second cut will reduce it to the low 60 and ties for the final round Monday.

WIMBLEDON WINNER Neale Fraser of Australia holds trophy after taking the men's singles championship yesterday. He beat fellow Aussie Rod Laver, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London)

WORLD'S NO. 1 AMATEUR

Fraser Captures Wimbledon Title

WIMBLEDON (AP)—An explosive service carried Neale Fraser to the 74th Wimbledon championship Friday and reaffirmed Australia's supremacy in the world of tennis.

In an all-Australian, all-left-handed final witnessed by a bevy of British royalty, the 26-year-old son of a Melbourne physician triumphed over Queenslander Rod Laver 6-4, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5.

The match, interrupted by rain in the third set, got off to a dull and error-laden start but finished on a sparkling note with both players duelling skillfully. Laver's game obviously was dulled by his 3½ hour, 36-game doubles marathon of the evening before.

The victory was the fourth in five years for an Australian and the final impressiveness of both the champion and runner-up was enough to throw heavy gloom over America's hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup.

Fraser, who also holds the U.S. championship, now may be hailed as the unchallenged No. 1 amateur of the world. His name goes on the champion's roll beside those of fellow Australians Lew Hoad, who won in 1956 and 1957, and Ashley Cooper, who won in 1958 before Peru's Alex Olmedo broke the Aussie string last year. Olmedo now is a pro.

Fraser also became the third left-hander since the tourney began in 1877 to take the title. The first was Sir Norman Brookes of Australia, winner in 1907 and 1914 and a spectator here Friday. The other was Czech exile Jaroslav Drobny, 1954.

Wimbledon's "dedicated fortnight" ends Saturday with the crowning of the women's singles and various doubles champions. Maria Bueno of Brazil is favored to take her second straight women's crown in the final round against Sandra Reynolds of South Africa.

The men's championship round was played before a capacity 18,000 in the center enclosure.

Fraser may be considered one of the luckiest of champions. He almost failed to make the final, being within points of defeat when cramps struck down Earl Buchholz Jr., of St. Louis in a quarter-final match. Then in Laver he met a youngster who left much of his tennis in the long, losing doubles duel Thursday.

Miss Bueno has a chance for one of the rare Wimbledon triples. She and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., gained the women's doubles final by beating Karen Hantze of San Diego, Calif., and Janet Hopps of Seattle, 6-4, 9-7.

Jurges May Get Job With Birds

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltiore Evening Sun speculated Friday that Billy Jurges, deposed manager of the Boston Red Sox, will take a job with the Baltimore Orioles.

The newspaper said Jurges talked Thursday night with Lee MacPhail, Oriole president, and "could fit in nicely as a scout," according to Manager Paul Richards.

3-6, 6-1, 6-4. She also is in the mixed doubles final with Bob Howe of Australia. In doubles the Hard - Bueno combination will meet South Africa's Sandra Reynolds and Renee Schuurman.

The men's doubles final will involve two unseeded teams. Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Rafael Osuna of Mexico will meet the British pair of Mike Davies and Bobby Wilson. The Britons Friday eliminated Australia's Bob Hewitt and Marty Mulligan, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Ralston and Miss Hantze, a couple of 17-year-olds, were beaten in the mixed doubles' final by Czechoslovakia's Jaroslav Javorsky and Vera Puzejova, 2-6, 6-4, 9-7.

Reds Defeat Cubs On Two Runs In 12th

CHICAGO (AP) — Roy McMillan's sacrifice fly and a pinch single by Willie Jones produced two 12th inning runs to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

Don Elston, the Cubs' relief expert who pitched 6 1-3 innings — his longest stint since Aug. 19 last season at Philadelphia—drew the loss as Bob Grim, third of four Cincinnati pitchers, gained the win.

Gus Bell and Frank Robinson sandwiched singles around the first out in the third overtime inning before Ed Bailey walked to load the bases. McMillan greeted Joe Schaffernoth, Elston's relief, with his sacrifice fly before Jones powered the insurance run.

Cincinnati climbed to a 3-0 lead in the second, and chased starter Mark Freeman in the process. Harry Anderson and McMillan slammed run-making singles behind Jerry Lynch's leadoff double. Vada Pinson drew a bases full walk to account for the third run before Seth Morehead rescued Freeman and fanned Bell for the third out.

Ramos Using Spitball, Says Chisox Pilot

BALTIMORE (AP) — Washington's Pedro Ramos throws a spitball and American League umpires are lax in calling him on it, White Sox Manager Al Lopez charged Friday.

"Everybody will be throwing them," Lopez observed after accusing Ramos of tossing spitters at Jim Landis and Nellie Fox Thursday night as the White Sox defeated the Senators 4-2 in 10 innings in Washington.

Lopez said he protested to plate Umpire Larry Napp after Ramos struck out Landis with a pitch that "broke about a foot."

Although Napp talked to Ramos, Lopez said the umpire was not forceful and apparently afraid of antagonizing the crowd.

"I don't blame the pitchers for trying to throw the spitter," said Lopez. "I blame the umpires for letting them get away with it."

Lopez said a spitter Ramos

Modesto Player Recovering After Skull Fracture

MODESTO, Calif. (AP)— Charles Reidell, 21-year-old infielder-outfielder for the Modesto Reds of the Class C California League, appeared to be recovering Friday from a minor skull fracture. He was hit by a thrown ball Monday night.

Jerry Pepelis, manager of the Reds, said Reidell's hospital room was barred to visitors and he needs a rest. Pepelis said it remained to be determined whether Reidell could resume playing this season.

A thrown ball by Stockton shortstop Fred Scott accidentally hit Reidell as he raced toward second base. Scott was trying to complete a double play.

Reidell's home town is New Berlin, Pa.

IN PLATOONING

Stengel Says He Copied McGraw

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees who popularized the platooning of players in modern major league baseball, says when he first came to the Yankees in 1949 he wanted three men for every position so injuries never would hurt his club . . . "but I got the idea originally from John McGraw," Casey told TV - announcer Jerry Coleman, indicating that's nothing really new in baseball . . .

"McGraw would platoon older players who had lost a step or two. They would play better in 90 games than they would in 150.

Platooning has drawn sharp criticism from many sources, including the player "victims" on the Yankees, but you can't knock Stengel's record as a winning manager — nine pennants in 11 years.

Football bows in for 1960 on July 30 . . . Boston Patriots play the Buffalo Bills at Buffalo in the American Football Legue's first exhibition game . . . it's the first game of the season, college or pro.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, Wimbledon and U.S. tennis champion last year and favored to win at Wimbledon again Saturday, never had a formal tennis lesson.

Some experts feel that what Mickey Mantle needs most is to rest his game leg for a full year in order to get back in shape to produce the way the Yankees know he can . . . but the club couldn't afford it — and neither could Mantle.

A fantastic number of pro football aspirants will go to camp with the eight teams in the new American Football League . . . New York Titans, for instance, are carting 106 up to the University of New Hampshire trying to find 33 who can make the grade.

National Football League teams, many of them pretty well set for '60, figure to average about 65-70 candidates, cutting about half by opening day.

With all that excess player pool, it's too bad there isn't a good minor league set-up available to the football pros.

Famed Hambletonian Harness classic is due Aug. 31 at Duquoin, Ill . . . Hambletonian was a famous trotter foaled in 1849 and sold for $125 . . . as a sire of 1,331, the old boy earned his owner close to $250,000, a pretty fair profit even in those "gold rush" days.
